Ali Gives Chou View On Island

Thinks Door Open On Negotiating

Bandung, Indonesia, April 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said today Premier Chou En-lai of Red China considers the "door to direct negotiations with the United States over Formosa is still open a slight crack."

Ali made his statement to reporters after a 2½ hour luncheon talk with Chou. This was after the 29-nation Asian-African conference adjourned.

CHOU JARRED the closing session by declaring that his government would not yield its "sovereign right to liberate" Chiang Kai-shek's Island bastion. That chilled high hopes he had raised the day before by calling for direct talks with the United States to ease tension in the Formosa area.

Ali, known as a supporter of the west, told reporters he discussed all phases of the Formosa problem with Chou.

He did not say whether he had asked the Red Chinese premier to release imprisoned American airmen as one means of showing sincerity for the negotiations.

ALI INTIMATED, however, that he had raised the question, by saying: "There is the need to eliminate suspicion on both sides, and I believe China could help by releasing the American airmen or perhaps arranging for a Nationalist Chinese evacuation of the offshore islands."

The seven-day conference was marked by frequent clashes between pro and anti-Communist elements. But it reached last-minute agreement on the major issue that nearly caused a stalemate—the touchy colonial question.

AFTER HOURS of deliberation a subcommittee finally came up with an acceptable resolution condemning colonialism "in all its manifestations." It carefully avoided specifying either Western or Communist colonialism.

Both sides in the cold war seemed to have profited during the parley.

There was little or none of the bitter condemnation the West had expected from the formerly subjected peoples. Anti-Communist spokesmen captured the initiative at the outset of the con-

Dulles, Ike Ask Ministers Confer

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The Western Big Three foreign ministers will meet in Paris May 8 "to discuss concrete plans for holding a four power conference with the Soviet government."

The State Department in announcing this today said the United States, Britain and France "earnestly hope that a four power conference can meet as soon as possible."

THE BRIEF announcement did not say at what level it hoped the meeting with Russia could be held. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have said in the past that a four power foreign ministers conference should precede any meetings of heads of state.

Moscow has indicated a desire for a meeting of Premier Bulganin with President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden.

In talking to newsmen at a diplomatic reception on Saturday, Bulganin said he was interested in such a conference and that it was up to Eisenhower and Eden to set a date.

IN PREPARATION for the May 8 Paris meeting, American, British and French technical experts will meet in London Wednesday to make what the State Department called "a preliminary study" of the problems to be discussed by the foreign ministers.

The State Department said that "in accordance with the usual practice" the three western governments will discuss the possible Big Four conference with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and representatives of other Atlantic pact governments.

"The governments of France, the United Kingdom and the United States," the announcement said, "have consistently given proof of their desire to seek by negotiation the just and peaceful settlement of questions which might disturb the maintenance of enduring peace.

"MOVED BY the same desire, the three foreign ministers will

Collision Injures 5 Sunday

Five persons were injured in a collision on the Onteora Trail near the Brabrant road intersection a short distance west of the Kingston city line about 6 p. m. Sunday.

None of the injured was reported in serious condition at Kingston Hospifal this morning.

DEPUTY SHERIFF'S and state police investigated the accident, which involved a passenger car owned by Gertrude Every of RD No. 4, Kingston, and a pickup truck driven by Earl Karnes, 45, of Sloatsburg, according to the sheriff's office report.

Details of the accident were not known as none of the occupants of the vehicles could be questioned due to their injuries.

When authorities arrived, the passenger automobile was resting against the side of the concrete block house at the intersection, and the pickup truck was in the highway with its front end badly damaged, according to Deputies Joseph McNierney and George Bynner. Several of the injured parties apparently had been thrown from their vehicles and were lying on the ground.

OCCUPANTS of the passenger automobile who were injured were identified as Arnold Every, 20, of RD 4, Kingston, and Lloyd Madden, 22, of Stony Hollow. Authorities have not determined who was driving at the time. Conditions of both were reported as "fair" at Kingston Hospital this morning.

With Karnes in the pickup truck were his wife, Rose Mary Karnes, and daughter, Marilyn. Hospital authorities reported Karnes in fair condition, and Mrs. Karnes in good condition. The girl was treated and released, the report indicated. Karnes is a construction worker employed by Petrillo Healey Gammonie Company of Arden, deputy sheriffs reported.

There was no arrest.

Could Triple Air Force

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining has advised Congress that Red China's air force could be doubled or tripled "overnight" from Russia. In testimony given Feb. 9 and made public today, the air force chief of staff said Red China's "rapidly expanding system of bases . . . gives the Communists the ability to move in aircraft rapidly from the Soviet Union. We cannot ignore their capability to double or triple their air strength in the Far East overnight," he told a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

45-Foot Fall Fatal

Vincent Pavlak Dies In Accident at Alsen

Vincent Louis Pavlak, 38, of Cementon was instantly killed early today when he fell 45 feet to the ground from a silo at the Lehigh Portland Cement Company plant at Alsen, in Greene county.

Coroner Mahlon Atkinson issued a verdict of accidental death after an autopsy disclosed that Pavlak died of a compound skull fracture, crushed chest and other injuries.

THERE WERE no witnesses to the accident, which occurred about 5:30 a. m., it was reported.

An ironworker, Pavlak was employed by the general contractor in a modernization project at the cement plant. It is believed he slipped on wet scaffolding on the 45-foot level of the 100-foot high silo.

Pavlak had been working on the night shift about two weeks. A signalman at the plant heard the body fall and summoned Citizens Hose Company ambulance from Catskill, but Pavlak was dead on arrival of the ambulance.

AN IRONWORKER since 1938, Pavlak was employed on the Alsen project by E. C. Machin, Inc., general contractors. He was a veteran of World War 2, serving with the army engineers from 1942 to 1945, and saw action in the South Pacific.

Pavlak resided at Cementon with his mother, Katherine Pavlak. Also surviving are three brothers, Louis of Ridgefield, N. J., Anthony of Cementon and Joseph Pavlak of Catskill, undersheriff of Greene county; and two sisters, Mrs. Albert Johnson and Mrs. Eva Boyce.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Keenan and Son of Saugerties.

Police Surprise Two Found in Morgan's Grill

Two young men, who, police say they surprised in an alleged burglary attempt at Morgan's Restaurant, 19 Cornell street, were arrested early Sunday.

Police said they admitted making another attempt at the florist shop of Burgevine, Inc., 245 Fair street, a short time before they were picked up at the Morgan restaurant, but Detective Clarence Brophy said, questioning of the two yesterday, failed to account for involvement in any of a recent series of petty thefts.

THE TWO held on burglary charges were Charles Harding, 17, of 6 Downs street, and Joseph McDermott, 18, of Colonial Gardens. Harding waived examination and was held for the grand jury and McDermott requested a preliminary examination when they appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino.

The examination was scheduled for tomorrow. Attorney William A. Kaercher appeared for Harding and Thomas J. Plunket for McDermott.

OBSERVATIONS of Officer John Frasch resulted in the arrest of the two. He had noticed someone in the restaurant, he said.

A police report at 4:10 a. m., said Frasch had called for a patrol car. Officers George Dougherty and Sperial Joseph Keller were dispatched to the restaurant and the three walked in on the young men, who apparently had taken nothing in the building at the time.

The "break" at the restaurant was made through a rear entrance, officers said.

Entry of the Burgevin building was not reported until 5:05 a. m., Sunday. Police headquarters was notified by Officer Charles McCullough. They had allegedly entered through the rear door there also.

After questioning of the two by Detectives Brophy and Frank Sammons, it was indicated, however, that the two allegedly had entered the uptown building, where the officers said, a money drawer containing no cash and the safe was found locked and apparently not tampered with.

The report indicated that the two had been riding in a car that was found parked on O'Neil street after their arrest.

President Plans Atom Ship Tour

Would Show World U.S. Move for Lasting Peace

New York, April 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower today unveiled plans to send a new, atomic powered merchant ship around the globe in a dramatic demonstration of America's determination to win "a just and lasting peace."

THE NEW VESSEL, The President said, will travel thousands of miles without refueling and "will demonstrate to people everywhere this peacetime use of atomic energy, harnessed for the improvement of human living."

Eisenhower disclosed his intention to ask Congress for funds to build the new ship in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual luncheon meeting of the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. About 1,300 of the nation's publishers and editors were on hand for the start of Newspaper Week in New York.

THE PRESIDENT coupled his surprise anouncement of plans for the atomic-powered ship with a new plea for congressional enactment of the administration program to cut tariffs 15 per cent over the next three years.

Eisenhower made no direct mention of Red China's weekend offer to negotiate with the United States to relax tension in the Formosa area. But in an obvious reference to Communist

Maj. John G. Myers Hilton, 53, of West Bridge street, Saugerties, deputy director of the Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense Council, died suddenly at his home this morning.

The sudden death of Maj. Hilton, who has taken a prominent part in civic affairs since coming to Saugerties to live in 1924, came as a shock to the community.

Maj. Hilton was born in Albany, son of the late George P. and Jessie Myers Hilton. He was a grandson of the late John G. Myers of the old John G. Myers Co. in Albany.

Maj. Hilton helped to organize and served as first president of the Taxpayers Association of Saugerties.

VFW Will Honor Browning Tuesday As Man of Year

ROBERT F. BROWNING

In the orbit of radio and television where pear-shaped tones are generally demanded and any deviation from script is frowned upon, Bob Browning is a nonconformist. However, to the thousands of people in the valley, who tune in his local news broadcasts on WKNY Radio and Television, the gray-thatched broadcaster is a living room legend.

Never an eight-hour period passes on the air, but what the homey "Hello Neighbors" is the greeting of Robert Francis Browning, who will be honored Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce Schirick Post, as its Citizen of the Year.

PASTE POT, scissors and telephone are the reportorial instruments used by Mr. Browning in collecting local news for six broadcasts, which was augmented last year by the nightly TV newscast. A rather phenomenal schedule for the 13-year broadcasting veteran, who is confined to a wheelchair with arthritis.

All of his radio news broadcasts emanate from his room-studio in the Governor Clinton Hotel, and he is transported by taxi nightly to the TV studio in Port Ewen for that shot. That

Bechtold Murder Trial May Not Be on This Term

The murder trial of Mrs. Anna Bechtold, 58, accused of shooting her husband at their summer cottage near Ellenville last September 14, probably will not be moved at this term of County court unless County Judge John M. Cashin recesses the present term to June.

Supreme court convenes next week and with a motion pending for a bill of particulars sought by defense counsel, returnable this afternoon, in all probabilities the case will be moved over, at least until June, when court convenes this afternoon.

A REQUEST for a bill of particulars was filed by defense counsel in which demands were made for information as to when, how, where and by what means the alleged shooting took place. District Attorney Howard C. St. John considered these demands too sweeping and asked for time to file objections. Opposing affidavits were filed this morning by St. John and County Judge Cashin stated he would need time to review the facts and the law before deciding the motion for the bill of particulars. With only five more days prior to the convening of Supreme Court, there remains insufficient time for a trial during April.

Judge Cashin indicated he may recess the April term until June and then hear the Bechtold case.

MRS. BECHTOLD'S husband, William, 48, a resort hotel chef, was killed last September at their summer cottage near where he was employed.

Police reported she had telephoned then from their Samsonville home later that night and reported she had killed her husband and twice had tried to kill herself with gas and with chloroform. She allegedly shot her husband with a rifle after first firing a double-barreled shotgun at him as he entered the house. They had allegedly quarreled over money.

N. LeVan Haver and James J. Abernethy appear as defense counsel.

Would Show World U.S. Move for Lasting Peace

New York, April 25 (AP) — President Eisenhower today unveiled plans to send a new, atomic powered merchant ship around the globe in a dramatic demonstration of America's determination to win "a just and lasting peace."

THE NEW VESSEL, The President said, will travel thousands of miles without refueling and "will demonstrate to people everywhere this peacetime use of atomic energy, harnessed for the improvement of human living."

Eisenhower disclosed his intention to ask Congress for funds to build the new ship in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual luncheon meeting of the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. About 1,300 of the nation's publishers and editors were on hand for the start of Newspaper Week in New York.

THE PRESIDENT coupled his surprise anouncement of plans for the atomic-powered ship with a new plea for congressional enactment of the administration program to cut tariffs 15 per cent over the next three years.

Eisenhower made no direct mention of Red China's weekend offer to negotiate with the United States to relax tension in the Formosa area. But in an obvious reference to Communist

Major Hilton, CD Deputy Dies at Saugerties Home

Maj. John G. Myers Hilton, 53, of West Bridge street, Saugerties, deputy director of the Kingston-Ulster Civil Defense Council, died suddenly at his home this morning.

The sudden death of Maj. Hilton, who has taken a prominent part in civic affairs since coming to Saugerties to live in 1926, came as a shock to the community.

Maj. Hilton was born in Albany, son of the late George P. and Jessie Myers Hilton. He was a grandson of the late John G. Myers of the old John G. Myers Co. in Albany.

Maj. Hilton helped to organize and served as first president of the Taxpayers Association of Saugerties.

VFW Will Honor Browning Tuesday As Man of Year

ROBERT F. BROWNING

In the orbit of radio and television where pear-shaped tones are generally demanded and any deviation from script is frowned upon, Bob Browning is a nonconformist. However, to the thousands of people in the valley, who tune in his local news broadcasts on WKNY Radio and Television, the gray-thatched broadcaster is a living room legend.

Never an eight-hour period passes on the air, but what the homey "Hello Neighbors" is the greeting of Robert Francis Browning, who will be honored Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Joyce Schirick Post, as its Citizen of the Year.

PASTE POT, scissors and telephone are the reportorial instruments used by Mr. Browning in collecting local news for six broadcasts, which was augmented last year by the nightly TV newscast. A rather phenomenal schedule for the 13-year broadcasting veteran, who is confined to a wheelchair with arthritis.

All of his radio news broadcasts emanate from his room-studio in the Governor Clinton Hotel, and he is transported by taxi nightly to the TV studio in Port Ewen for that shot. That

Bechtold Murder Trial May Not Be on This Term

The murder trial of Mrs. Anna Bechtold, 58, accused of shooting her husband at their summer cottage near Ellenville last September 14, probably will not be moved at this term of County court unless County Judge John M. Cashin recesses the present term to June.

Supreme court convenes next week and with a motion pending for a bill of particulars sought by defense counsel, returnable this afternoon, in all probabilities the case will be moved over, at least until June, when court convenes this afternoon.

A REQUEST for a bill of particulars was filed by defense counsel in which demands were made for information as to when, how, where and by what means the alleged shooting took place. District Attorney Howard C. St. John considered these demands too sweeping and asked for time to file objections. Opposing affidavits were filed this morning by St. John and County Judge Cashin stated he would need time to review the facts and the law before deciding the motion for the bill of particulars. With only five more days prior to the convening of Supreme Court, there remains insufficient time for a trial during April.

Judge Cashin indicated he may recess the April term until June and then hear the Bechtold case.

MRS. BECHTOLD'S husband, William, 48, a resort hotel chef, was killed last September at their summer cottage near where he was employed.

Police reported she had telephoned then from their Samsonville home later that night and reported she had killed her husband and twice had tried to kill herself with gas and with chloroform. She allegedly shot her husband with a rifle after first firing a double-barreled shotgun at him as he entered the house. They had allegedly quarreled over money.

N. LeVan Haver and James J. Abernethy appear as defense counsel.

Public Is Invited To Appraisal Talk

Kingston and area property owners were extended an invitation today to attend the open meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Governor Clinton Hotel, sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber president J. Ellis Briggs said that only brief reports will be given by Chamber officials and that most of the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the problems involved in any program to re-appraise property values for tax purposes.

THE PRINCIPAL speaker, who has also agreed to answer questions, will be Martin B. Stack of Troy. He has had direct contact, as a layman, with the program of re-assessments in the city of Troy and will discuss the advantages as well as the difficulties involved.

The problem of property assessments was referred to by Mayor Frederick H. Stang in his annual message and is one in which the Chamber of Commerce is very much interested. The problem has always been considered very controversial, but the need for its consideration is emphasized by the fact that it was chosen as the principle topic for consideration at the annual business meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Military Meals Are Criticized

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The Hoover Commission says the meals served at U. S. military bases wouldn't meet the standards of a good restaurant.

In a report on government buying and handling of food and clothing, the commission said last night that the armed forces buy good quality food but fail to meet commercial standards in the way they prepare and serve it.

The commission, headed by Former President Hoover, estimated that "great waste, duplication and overlapping" in government buying and handling of food and clothing costs taxpayers 340 million dollars a year.

IT SAID this amount could be saved through unified, efficient management and tighter inventory controls.

Armed forces operations drew particular criticism from the group, known formally as the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of Government. It called the preparation and serving of military meals "the weakest link in the chain of subsistence activities."

A commission task force said that in the military there is a "complete lack of teamwork between purchasing and stock management functions with the result that the right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing."

The task force reported, for example, that the navy in 1954 had enough canned hamburger to last, at the present rate of consumption, for more than 59 years.

Y., later confessed to Magistrate Anthony Maglio she had been drinking. At Maglio's suggestion she told Walsh she was sorry. hotel room, incidentally, is one of the city's favorite meeting places for people from a cross section of Ulster county, who have known Bob down through the years as being active in political life and in the activities of the American Legion.

BROWNING is a disabled veteran of World War 1. He served with the 318th Infantry, Blue Ridge Division. He recalls vividly being gassed once and shot twice within a 24-hour period at Nantilloy, France in the Battle of the Argonne. The wounds necessitated the amputation of his left arm.

Born in Palestine, Texas, May 27, 1893, he attended public schools in Texas, Balimore, Md., and Washington, D. C., and the old New Jersey Military School at Freehold, N. J. Like all good men of Texas, Bob has his provincial pride, and can point to the time he spent as a young man in the Lone Star state being everything from cowboy and lumberjack to oil field hand.

His political career began in 1932 when he ran for member of Assembly on the Democratic ticket. He was deputy county treasurer in 1933 under the late Arthur Rice. Bob says that one of his happy accomplishments was, when as an assessor in the Town of Hurley, he was one of the leaders to put Ashokan Reservoir on the assessment rolls.

A COUNTY COMMANDER of the American Legion in 1931, he is a charter member of the Woodstock post, having joined the legion in 1923 at Saugerties before Woodstock post was established. As a person who likes nothing better than to reminisce, Bob can recall when the VFW, of which he is a charter member, met at the corner of Brewster street and Broadway in 1921.

Browning joined the WKNY staff the day after Pearl Harbor at a weekly salary of $5 for collecting, editing and broadcasting one news show a day. How did he get interested in radio? "Well, I had just been discharged from the veterans hospital," as he recalls it, "and sitting in the Legion building on O'Reilly street with Sam Mann and the late Andrew Murphy, Jr., I told the boys I was interested in a job with little or no mental or physical effort. They immediately suggested radio," Bob laughed.

THE REWARDS of his strenuous daily routine are many in his appraisal for he feels the ability to help people and charities is the greatest reward derived from any occupation. "I get tremendous satisfaction from helping people in trouble," declared Browning. His record substantiates that for a Browning appeal for clothing, aid or comfort to distressed people brings quick, voluminous results.

He was responsible in part for the establishment of the local blood bank, and has been a national secretary of the National Association of Disabled Soldiers, Sailors and Marines. A member of the First Dutch Church, Browning is also active in Masonic work. He is likewise a member of the BPOE, 550, and the 40 & 8.

Married to the former Elizabeth Barrows, they have two children, Mrs. Lloyd Beresford of Rhinebeck and Mrs. Alfred Munier of Lloyd Harbor, L. I. Mrs. Browning currently operates the famous Tokalon Kennels on the West Hurley-Woodstock road.

THE EXPEDIENCY with which he secures tips on news stories is a marvel to the many police agencies which he calls upon every day in this area for stories "for my local news," which Bob sentimentally calls it. Bob Browning is oracle, legend and daily neighbor to countless homes. He is as durable as the village green, as welcome as a letter from the rural mail carrier, and as intimate as an across-the-fence chat with the next door neighbor.

For 13 years now, that friendly "Hello Neighbors," has been a familiar greeting. And long may his microphone wave on high.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 25 (AP) — A flurry of selling hit the stock market in early dealings today as margins were boosted. But a later recovery from the lows modified the decline considerably.

Prices were down 1 to around 3 points at the outside with extreme losses lessened as the session progressed.

Men and equipment from Central station answered a call at 8:04 p. m. Three panels of composition ceiling were removed and the blaze quenched with chemicals, firemen said.

Meeting Due

meet in Paris on May 8 in order to discuss concrete plans for holding a four-power conference with the Soviet government.

"In accordance with usual practice they will also discuss this question with the chancellor of the German Federal Republic and ministers of other NATO governments.

"Experts designated by the three governments will meet in London on April 27 to make a preliminary study of these problems in preparation for the ministers' discussions.

"THE THREE governments earnestly hope that a four-power conference can meet as soon as possible."

Jacob Beam, director of the State Department's Office of Eastern European Affairs, and half a dozen aides left yesterday by plane for London to represent the United States at the preparatory three power talks beginning Wednesday.

The May 8 date for the session of Big Three foreign ministers is one day before the May 9-11 meeting of the North Atlantic Pact Council. This would indicate the American-British-French foreign ministers session may be only a one-day affair unless additional meetings are held concurrently or after the Atlantic Past session.

New Lights Are Turned on Friday On Wurts Street

New lights are now in use on Wurts and McEntee streets as a first step in the city's long-range light improvement program, it was announced today.

The new lights were turned on for the first time Friday night, and Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the Board of Public Works light committee, and a spokesman for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., said they have vastly improved lighting on the arterial streets.

Older lights of 1,000 candle power were replaced by units of 2,000 candle power each, and the 26 units installed are staggered on opposite sides of the street 90 feet apart, instead of opposite each other at 90 feet as now on Broadway.

An additional light has been placed at Wurts and Abeel streets to increase lighting at the bridge approach.

MONEY HAS been included in the city budget for a few other light improvements this year, Mayor Frederick H. Stang noted at a recent BPW meeting.

The new lights extend from the bottom of the Wurts street hill to McEntee street, and over the latter to Broadway. Because of the present arrangement of lights, the streets are about three times more brilliantly lighter than formerly, the Central Hudson spokesman said.

Halt Search for Boy Age 5; Feared Drowned

High water and strong currents following last night's rain forced temporary abandonment this morning of the search for the body of David Edge, 5, who was feared drowned in the Rondout Creek at Rosendale, the sheriff's office reported.

Intensive search by deputies, volunteer firemen and others had been in progress since the boy was reported missing at 5:25 p. m. Thursday. No trace of the lad has been reported since the finding of his toy gun on a rock protruding into the creek at that time.

No 'Bait Ads'

New York, April 25 (AP)—The National Food Clubs, Inc., has voluntarily agreed to refrain from "bait advertising" practices, Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits reports. Javits says the advertising tended to "mislead and confuse" the purchasing public. The company, Javits said yesterday, will refrain from engaging in 19 specific practices. One practice was failure to indicate clearly to prospective purchasers that a food freezer must be purchased and was not a gift upon entering the food purchase plan. A consent injunction against the firm has been filed in State Supreme Court, Javits said, and the firm is the first in the food plan industry to agree voluntarily to curb methods he calls "unfair business practices."

Public Is Invited To Appraisal Talk

Kingston and area property owners were extended an invitation today to attend the open meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Governor Clinton Hotel, sponsored by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber president J. Ellis Briggs said that only brief reports will be given by Chamber officials and that most of the meeting will be devoted to a discussion of the problems involved in any program to re-appraise property values for tax purposes.

THE PRINCIPAL speaker, who has also agreed to answer questions, will be Martin B. Stack of Troy. He has had direct contact, as a layman, with the program of re-assessments in the city of Troy and will discuss the advantages as well as the difficulties involved.

The problem of property assessments was referred to by Mayor Frederick H. Stang in his annual message and is one in which the Chamber of Commerce is very much interested. The problem has always been considered very controversial, but the need for its consideration is emphasized by the fact that it was chosen as the principle topic for consideration at the annual business meeting of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Albany, April 25 (AP) — The State Social Welfare Department today set May 13 as the target date for opening of a new training school for boys at Otisville, Orange county.

Military Meals Are Criticized

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The Hoover Commission says the meals served at U. S. military bases wouldn't meet the standards of a good restaurant.

In a report on government buying and handling of food and clothing, the commission said last night that the armed forces buy good quality food but fail to meet commercial standards in the way they prepare and serve it.

The commission, headed by Former President Hoover, estimated that "great waste, duplication and overlapping" in government buying and handling of food and clothing costs taxpayers 340 million dollars a year.

IT SAID this amount could be saved through unified, efficient management and tighter inventory controls.

Armed forces operations drew particular criticism from the group, known formally as the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of Government. It called the preparation and serving of military meals "the weakest link in the chain of subsistence activities."

A commission task force said that in the military there is a "complete lack of teamwork between purchasing and stock management functions with the result that the right hand doesn't know what the left hand is doing."

The task force reported, for example, that the navy in 1954 had enough canned hamburger to last, at the present rate of consumption, for more than 59 years.

Y., later confessed to Magistrate Anthony Maglio she had been drinking. At Maglio's suggestion she told Walsh she was sorry. "I don't accept her apology after the hard time she gave me," said the irate officer. "The female of the species when drinking is apt to be more violent," adaged Maglio. Sentence suspended.

BROWNING is a disabled veteran of World War 1. He served with the 318th Infantry, Blue Ridge Division. He recalls vividly being gassed once and shot twice within a 24-hour period at Nantilloy, France in the Battle of the Argonne. The wounds necessitated the amputation of his left arm.

Born in Palestine, Texas, May 27, 1893, he attended public schools in Texas, Balimore, Md., and Washington, D. C., and the old New Jersey Military School at Freehold, N. J. Like all good men of Texas, Bob has his provincial pride, and can point to the time he spent as a young man in the Lone Star state being everything from cowboy and lumberjack to oil field hand.

His political career began in 1932 when he ran for member of Assembly on the Democratic ticket. He was deputy county treasurer in 1933 under the late Arthur Rice. Bob says that one of his happy accomplishments was, when as an assessor in the Town of Hurley, he was one of the leaders to put Ashokan Reservoir on the assessment rolls.

A COUNTY COMMANDER of the American Legion in 1931, he is a charter member of the Woodstock post, having joined the legion in 1923 at Saugerties before Woodstock post was established. As a person who likes nothing better than to reminisce, Bob can recall when the VFW, of which he is a charter member, met at the corner of Brewster street and Broadway in 1921.

Browning joined the WKNY staff the day after Pearl Harbor at a weekly salary of $5 for collecting, editing and broadcasting one news show a day. How did he get interested in radio? "Well, I had just been discharged from the veterans hospital," as he recalls it, "and sitting in the Legion building on O'Reilly street with Sam Mann and the late Andrew Murphy, Jr., I told the boys I was interested in a job with little or no mental or physical effort. They immediately suggested radio," Bob laughed.

THE REWARDS of his strenuous daily routine are many in his appraisal for he feels the ability to help people and charities is the greatest reward derived from any occupation. "I get tremendous satisfaction from helping people in trouble," declared Browning. His record substantiates that for a Browning appeal for clothing, aid or comfort to distressed people brings quick, voluminous results.

He was responsible in part for the establishment of the local blood bank, and has been a national secretary of the National Association of Disabled Soldiers, Sailors and Marines. A member of the First Dutch Church, Browning is also active in Masonic work. He is likewise a member of the BPOE, 550, and the 40 & 8.

Married to the former Elizabeth Barrows, they have two children, Mrs. Lloyd Beresford of Rhinebeck and Mrs. Alfred Munier of Lloyd Harbor, L. I. Mrs. Browning currently operates the famous Tokalon Kennels on the West Hurley-Woodstock road.

THE EXPEDIENCY with which he secures tips on news stories is a marvel to the many police agencies which he calls upon every day in this area for stories "for my local news," which Bob sentimentally calls it. Bob Browning is oracle, legend and daily neighbor to countless homes. He is as durable as the village green, as welcome as a letter from the rural mail carrier, and as intimate as an across-the-fence chat with the next door neighbor.

For 13 years now, that friendly "Hello Neighbors," has been a familiar greeting. And long may his microphone wave on high.

"Either we foster flourishing trade between the free nations or we weaken the free world and our own economy," Eisenhower said.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 25 (AP) — A flurry of selling hit the stock market in early dealings today as margins were boosted. But a later recovery from the lows modified the decline considerably.

Prices were down 1 to around 3 points at the outside with extreme losses lessened as the session progressed.

Short Circuit Fire Damages Renaro Home

A short circuit in an electric fixture caused a fire which damaged a section of ceiling in the apartment of James Renaro, 352 Broadway, Saturday night.

Men and equipment from Central station answered a call at 8:04 p. m. Three panels of composition ceiling were removed and the blaze quenched with chemicals, firemen said.

Ulster Hose Company was called out at 12:45 a. m., Sunday to the DiMaio house on East Chester street extension, where excess oil in a space heater had caught fire. The blaze was checked before serious damage resulted.

A call at 11:15 a. m. today was for a chimney fire in a two-family house at 24 Henry street, owned by Mrs. Pauline Joyce, of Catskill. Men and equipment from Central station responded. It was checked before causing serious damage.

meet in Paris on May 8 in order to discuss concrete plans for holding a four-power conference with the Soviet government.

"In accordance with usual practice they will also discuss this question with the chancellor of the German Federal Republic and ministers of other NATO governments.

"Experts designated by the three governments will meet in London on April 27 to make a preliminary study of these problems in preparation for the ministers' discussions.

"THE THREE governments earnestly hope that a four-power conference can meet as soon as possible."

Jacob Beam, director of the State Department's Office of Eastern European Affairs, and half a dozen aides left yesterday by plane for London to represent the United States at the preparatory three power talks beginning Wednesday.

The May 8 date for the session of Big Three foreign ministers is one day before the May 9-11 meeting of the North Atlantic Pact Council. This would indicate the American-British-French foreign ministers session may be only a one-day affair unless additional meetings are held concurrently or after the Atlantic Past session.

337 Arrests in N. Y.

New York, April 25 (AP)—The seventh weekend of the 1955 police drive to rid Manhattan streets of "undesirables" produced 337 arrests. The record number of arrests this year was set in the fifth weekend when 433 persons were picked up. Many of those arrested Friday, Saturday and yesterday were sentenced to jail or fined in night court. Among the charges were disorderly conduct, begging, vagrancy and degeneracy.

New Lights Are Turned on Friday On Wurts Street

New lights are now in use on Wurts and McEntee streets as a first step in the city's long-range light improvement program, it was announced today.

The new lights were turned on for the first time Friday night, and Raymond L. Whitbeck, of the Board of Public Works light committee, and a spokesman for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., said they have vastly improved lighting on the arterial streets.

Older lights of 1,000 candle power were replaced by units of 2,000 candle power each, and the 26 units installed are staggered on opposite sides of the street 90 feet apart, instead of opposite each other at 90 feet as now on Broadway.

An additional light has been placed at Wurts and Abeel streets to increase lighting at the bridge approach.

MONEY HAS been included in the city budget for a few other light improvements this year, Mayor Frederick H. Stang noted at a recent DPW meeting.

The new lights extend from the bottom of the Wurts street hill to McEntee street, and over the latter to Broadway. Because of the present arrangement of lights, the streets are about three times more brilliantly lighter than formerly, the Central Hudson spokesman said.

Halt Search for Boy Age 5; Feared Drowned

High water and strong currents following last night's rain forced temporary abandonment this morning of the search for the body of David Edge, 5, who was feared drowned in the Rondout Creek at Rosendale, the sheriff's office reported.

Intensive search by deputies, volunteer firemen and others had been in progress since the boy was reported missing at 5:25 p. m. Thursday. No trace of the lad has been reported since the finding of his toy gun on a rock protruding into the creek at that time.

No 'Bait Ads'

New York, April 25 (AP)—The National Food Clubs, Inc., has voluntarily agreed to refrain from "bait advertising" practices, Atty. Gen. Jacob K. Javits reports. Javits says the advertising tended to "mislead and confuse" the purchasing public. The company, Javits said yesterday, will refrain from engaging in 19 specific practices. One practice was failure to indicate clearly to prospective purchasers that a food freezer must be purchased and was not a gift upon entering the food purchase plan. A consent injunction against the firm has been filed in State Supreme Court, Javits said, and the firm is the first in the food plan industry to agree voluntarily to curb methods he calls "unfair business practices."

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, April 23 — A women's auxiliary of the M. F. Whitney Hose Company was recently organized at Phoenicia. Officers of the auxiliary are as follows: Mrs. Robert Gregg, president; Mrs. Walter Winchell, vice president; Mrs. Roy Winchell, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Hanel, secretary. At present there are ten members but Mrs. Gregg reports that every woman in this area is welcome to join. A rummage sale is planned for the near future and local residents are asked to contact Mrs. Walter Winchell, Church street, or Mrs. Mervale Jones, Onteora Trail, if they have any articles to contribute to the sale.

Growing Up and Liking It was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Harold T. Larsen of Nyack at the monthly meeting of the Onteora Parent-Teacher Association at the Onteora Central school Tuesday evening. Mrs. Larsen, a former teacher who holds BA and MA degrees, is working toward a doctorate in the field of "home and family life education," at Columbia University. Mrs. Larsen is chairman of the Rockland County Association for Mental Health and was recently appointed to the County Board of Mental Health. She stressed the value of a happy home life in developing a child into a well-adjusted adult. She urged parents to be less critical of a child's faults, but rather to encourage him in his capabilities, whether he be possessed of mental, physical or manual dexterity. Mrs. Larsen also cited the need of the average person to get away from "routine" at frequent intervals. Doing something "different" is a good insurance for mental health, she said.

Dr. Paul LePaige of Ashokan, one of the three school physicians at OCS, also spoke at the P-TA. He delivered a poignant speech on the Salk polio vaccine Dr. LePaige called the vaccine a "medical miracle" and said it was evidence of the fact that God had not deserted his children. "It has been proved that the vaccine is effective in combatting polio," said Dr. LePaige. "We hardly ever hear of a case of diptheria nowadays and the same can be true of poliomyelitis in the future. He stressed that the Salk vaccine is given by hypodermic injection and not by the "scratch method" as many persons erroneously believe.

They discussed the "Mutual Aid" system and its problems and witnessed a U. S. Army film showing the atom bomb blasts at Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Frank Carle, captain of the Mount Tremper teams and present chairman of the League, has announced that the captains have decided to reinstate the championship trophies next year. Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mellevold of Port Washington and here, have reopened the Mount Tremper Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kroepsch of New York and here, spent some time at her home on the Onteora Trail recently.

Mrs. Harry Carle and her three children are planning to fly home from Florida in the near future.

The next regular meeting of Mt. Tremper Grange will be held Monday night. Master August May urges all members to attend. Final plans will be discussed and the program will be rehearsed for the visitation meeting at Hurley Grange, Thursday evening, April 28.

Harry C. France

CREDIT SITUATION

Almost everybody except the security buyer can go deeply into hock to get the things he needs or wants. I think the credit situation in America is a conglomerate mess. A few illustrations will show why.

Two men recently arrived from Central Europe have bought a big Riverside Drive, New York city apartment without putting up a dime of their own money. They didn't have any to put up. The million dollar structure was bought "on a shoestring." How?

Well, a leading insurance company sold them the building for $50,000 cash subject to a first mortgage of $800,000. Where did the entrepreneurs get the $50,000? They sold a short term $100,000 second mortgage to money lenders for 50 cents on the dollar. Thus, they took control of a big 90-family house without risking a cent of their own money. And by cutting expenses drastically, they will pay off the $100,000 second mortgage in five years.

AGAIN, HERE is an inexperienced salesman. For utility and appearance he needs a good automobile. Personally, he hasn't a dollar. But his company, with confidence in his ability, lends him $822 as a down payment on a $2,466 car. He signs notes falling due within 36 months to cover the remaining cost—$1,644. Thus, this young salesman uses credit entirely to get what he needs.

Or here is a cabinet maker with over $2,600 of I-O-U's outstanding. He has a good job at good wages. This forms the base of his own consumer credit status. He has just bought a $250 television set, paying $25 down and promising to settle the $225 bill in 18 months. So today his outstanding I-O-U's amount to $2,825. He has no cash reserve and insignificant insurance.

Now, over against these three cases, consider that of an established business executive whose net worth is $250,000. His current assets total $25,000.

Convinced that a popular oil stock is a long term bargain at $70 a share, he tells his broker he wants to buy 1,000 shares on conservative margin. The broker is agreeable and he tells his client that $42,000 will swing the deal.

"Forty-two thousand," the man asks in consternation. "Why, I know some men who have bought a million dollar apartment without putting up a dollar of their own money! How come you ask me to deposit $42,000 on a $70,000 purchase?"

"Those are the Federal requirements,' says the broker. "And that is what I must have!"

It is, indeed, difficult to explain logically the credit situation in America. The volume of consumer credit is in the skies while brokers' loans are relatively infinitesimal.

I know many people whose consumer-credit debts are all out of proportion to their savings and stabilized earning capacity. On the other hand, I know many investors whose net worth entitles them to substantial lines of credit. But the debt-ridden earner can still borrow on a shoestring, while the capitalist, in borrowing against America's basic wealth, must put up 60 per cent margin. The nation's credit machinery needs re-adjustment badly.

THE FORUM (Q) "I have just landed a $100-a-week take-home pay job. Will you suggest a thrift and savings program for me?

(A) Save $10 a week and if, as you say, you may get a December 1955 bonus, put aside some of that. Deposit $4 a week in a good savings bank and pay $6 a week into a life insurance policy. If your earnings increase during 1955 or 1956, broaden and deepen this program.

Mt. Tremper

Mt. Tremper, April 23 — A women's auxiliary of the M. F. Whitney Hose Company was recently organized at Phoenicia. Officers of the auxiliary are as follows: Mrs. Robert Gregg, president; Mrs. Walter Winchell, vice president; Mrs. Roy Winchell, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar Hanel, secretary. At present there are ten members but Mrs. Gregg reports that every woman in this area is welcome to join. A rummage sale is planned for the near future and local residents are asked to contact Mrs. Walter Winchell, Church street, or Mrs. Mervale Jones, Onteora Trail, if they have any articles to contribute to the sale.

Growing Up and Liking It was the subject of a talk given by Mrs. Harold T. Larsen of Nyack at the monthly meeting of the Onteora Parent-Teacher Association at the Onteora Central school Tuesday evening. Mrs. Larsen, a former teacher who holds BA and MA degrees, is working toward a doctorate in the field of "home and family life education," at Columbia University. Mrs. Larsen is chairman of the Rockland County Association for Mental Health and was recently appointed to the County Board of Mental Health. She stressed the value of a happy home life in developing a child into a well-adjusted adult. She urged parents to be less critical of a child's faults, but rather to encourage him in his capabilities, whether he be possessed of mental, physical or manual dexterity. Mrs. Larsen also cited the need of the average person to get away from "routine" at frequent intervals. Doing something "different" is a good insurance for mental health, she said.

Dr. Paul LePaige of Ashokan, one of the three school physicians at OCS, also spoke at the P-TA. He delivered a poignant speech on the Salk polio vaccine Dr. LePaige called the vaccine a "medical miracle" and said it was evidence of the fact that God had not deserted his children. "It has been proved that the vaccine is effective in combatting polio," said Dr. LePaige. "We hardly ever hear of a case of diptheria nowadays and the same can be true of poliomyelitis in the future. He stressed that the Salk vaccine is given by hypodermic injection and not by the "scratch method" as many persons erroneously believe.

Bernard Brinks, Reese Smith and Howard Umhey attended the monthly meeting of the Ulster County Firemen's Association at Cottekill Tuesday evening. More than 100 volunteer fire-fighters were present. They discussed the "Mutual Aid" system and its problems and witnessed a U. S. Army film showing the atom bomb blasts at Nagasaki and Hiroshima.

Team captains of the Ulster County Grange Dartball League held their final meeting of the current season at Lake Katrine Grange Hall recently. Frank Carle, captain of the Mount Tremper teams and present chairman of the League, has announced that the captains have decided to reinstate the championship trophies next year. League chairman for the 1955-56 season will be a member of the Asbury Grange teams.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Mellevold of Port Washington and here, have reopened the Mount Tremper Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Kroepsch of New York and here, spent some time at her home on the Onteora Trail recently.

Mrs. Harry Carle and her three children are planning to fly home from Florida in the near future.

The next regular meeting of Mt. Tremper Grange will be held Monday night. Master August May urges all members to attend. Final plans will be discussed and the program will be rehearsed for the visitation meeting at Hurley Grange, Thursday evening, April 28.

CREDIT SITUATION

Almost everybody except the security buyer can go deeply into hock to get the things he needs or wants. I think the credit situation in America is a conglomerate mess. A few illustrations will show why.

Two men recently arrived from Central Europe have bought a big Riverside Drive, New York city apartment without putting up a dime of their own money. They didn't have any to put up. The million dollar structure was bought "on a shoestring." How?

Well, a leading insurance company sold them the building for $50,000 cash subject to a first mortgage of $800,000. Where did the entrepreneurs get the $50,000? They sold a short term $100,000 second mortgage to money lenders for 50 cents on the dollar. Thus, they took control of a big 90-family house without risking a cent of their own money. And by cutting expenses drastically, they will pay off the $100,000 second mortgage in five years.

AGAIN, HERE is an inexperienced salesman. For utility and appearance he needs a good automobile. Personally, he hasn't a dollar. But his company, with confidence in his ability, lends him $822 as a down payment on a $2,466 car. He signs notes falling due within 36 months to cover the remaining cost—$1,644. Thus, this young salesman uses credit entirely to get what he needs.

Or here is a cabinet maker with over $2,600 of I-O-U's outstanding. He has a good job at good wages. This forms the base of his own consumer credit status. He has just bought a $250 television set, paying $25 down and promising to settle the $225 bill in 18 months. So today his outstanding I-O-U's amount to $2,825. ## STUPID CHARGE

The Reds will never win the Battle of Bandung with the kind of propaganda excesses reflected in their wild charges of "American sabotage," after the crash of an Indian plane bearing Peiping's underlings to Indonesia.

Investigation of this incident will go forward, as it should. It is customary, however, to wait until completion of an inquiry before announcing findings. The Chinese Reds didn't even wait for the sketchiest preliminary report before jumping on the "sabotage" theme.

Even India's Prime Minister Nehru, whose search for a neutral course often leads him down some strange byways, declared that the crash in the South China Sea had some "very unusual features." This is pure, unfounded guesswork, since he could not have known any significant details when he made the comment.

The government at Hong Kong, the plane's last stop, said the Air India craft was under heavy guard during its one-hour pause, and that fuel and baggage loading were handled by the Communists and the Indian crew. No one else went aboard and no item of cargo was taken on that was not checked by the Reds and the crew.

Therefore the chances of sabotage by anybody would seem very remote. A moment's thought would convince any sensible person that sabotaging part of the Chinese delegation to Bandung is no way to win a propaganda war, anyway. The Red charges presume vast stupidity on America's part.

In truth it is the Communists who are being stupid. The Moscow-Peiping axis has heard for years that Communists make wonderful propaganda, that they can't be matched. Evidently they believe it. Evidently they think they can toss out any weird tale and it will score somewhere among the worlds' gullible millions.

NEXT, MENTAL ILLNESS

When Dr. Jonas Salk and two other scientists associated with the remarkable polio vaccine story were asked what broad medical science should next attack, they all three said the field of mental illness.

Not cancer, not heart disease, still the great killers, but mental illness, the great disabler.

Half the available hospital beds in this country are occupied today by mental patients. Mental and emotional disturbances are so commonplace that they must be set down as among the more tragic marks of this complex civilization.

The problem certainly is not wholly a medical one. Many could be saved from emotional crippling if this civilization of ours was doing a better job of building and preserving family and other human relationships. We must find a way to reduce the confusion and instability which puts so terrible a strain on many people, and makes their adjustment to life so difficult.

OUR FRIENDS IN ASIA

Some of those here and abroad who think America's Asiatic policies are either ineffective or nonexistent like to say we have no real friends in Asia.

It's true we don't have as many as we would like to have, but the picture isn't that black. To start with, we have Nationalist China. The Philippines, of course, are always with us. Perhaps more striking is the steady support we get from Pakistan.

THE REACTIONARIES

A person is called a reactionary who moves within the traditions of American life and history. The definition is my own but the facts behind it are demonstrable. I take the following from a statement made by Louis Hollander, president of the New York State C.I.O., who said:

"I believe we can force the reactionaries of both old parties to form their own third party. Then labor can sit down and rebuild one of the two remaining parties, supporting the liberals who stay on."

Hollander happened to say this because someone else, at the particular meeting he was addressing, had suggested that labor form its own third party which would seem to be the logical and honest way of going about it if anyone desired a third party.

Under the tutelage of the A.D.A., however, some labor leaders, Socialists, ancient New Dealers and forensic Republicans have concluded that the best way to walk off with another man's possessions is to go into his home and take over. Why bother to form a third party when it is possible by infiltration to steal both the Republican and Democratic Parties?

The question then arises as to whether it can be done. In New York State, the A.D.A. has more or less been pushed out of the Democratic Party. Neither Governor Averell Harriman nor Carmine DeSapio, who runs Democratic politics, will have anything to do with this amalgam of people on the Left. On the other hand, the Republican Party in this great state is not so resistant to the A.D.A. because being out of power is very unpleasant after so long a period in office and maybe with a little assistance the Republicans can get somewhere.

Besides, the only Republican elected last year, the Attorney-General, Jacob Javits, is on the untraditional side and nobody will call him a reactionary, no matter what else he might call him. In fact, if Hollander's friends manage to infiltrate and capture the Republican Party in New York, it would not be necessary for Javits to leave it, no matter what unseemly company he would be forced to keep.

Actually none of this is likely to happen on a national scale in the near future but it does indicate a manner of mind. The A.D.A. has sought to be a balance of power among the Democrats and has only failed because of a Southern repugnance for Socialists which may be overcome, in due course, as the industrialization of the South proceeds.

Among the Republicans, these days, the only fixed principle is that President Eisenhower is a great and popular man who cannot be defeated in 1956. Apart from that, the Party in power, as it were, views life and events pragmatically, hoping that more credits will be gained than minuses and that in due course everything will work out well enough, although in these muddled times no one can look forward to perfection. Republicans generally accept it as inviolable truth that Eisenhower cannot be defeated in 1956 no matter who runs against him and that no other Republican can be elected.

The theft of a political party by infiltration, two of them, as Hollander advocates, is only possible because of the debasement of public morals. In Hollander's circles, it would be called "khutzpa," which may be defined as aggressive, devil-may-care inpudence and sometimes even imprudence. And it is even possible that to one who can be guilty of "khutzpa" go the spoils because other men, less forward, shun the battle and give the field.

If political parties were membership organizations in the United States, as they are in Great Britain, capture of the Party by infiltration would not be so likely and probably impossible. In Great Britain, it is not within reason to conceive of a group of men banding together to capture both the Conservative and Labour Parties and offering Sir Anthony Eden and Clement Attlee the choice of organizing a third party. If nothing else, public morals would be outraged by such a thought.

Yet in the United States not only is the A.D.A. seeking to do exactly that but Mr. Hollander boasts of it and offers it as a program. And the reason that anyone dares do it is that both parties have become mostly vehicles for election, not agencies for the struggle over public principle.

IS THE OLDER WORKER EFFECTIVE?

A great deal is being heard, written and thought these days about the problems brought forward by our aging population. Because there has been so much said about the effectiveness of older workers and so few facts brought forward in support of these words, we learn of an extremely interesting study made in cooperation with the Bureau of Business Management of the University of Illinois. The results are a combination of three different research programs.

The first study was undertaken when a group of retailers raised the question of the possible use of older people to meet personnel shortages in retail stores. The findings were so revealing that a second study was made on older industrial workers in 39 industries, and later a third study, covering older office and managerial workers.

There was a great similarity in these findings. It showed that the performance of older personnel is not greatly affected by the kind of work in which they are engaged. In all, over 3,000 persons 60 years of age and older were studied in 81 organizations.

How were they rated? In each case, by the opinion of their supervisors and it was entirely confidential. Contrary to the belief that an older supervisor may give more favorable reports on older workers, it was found that the supervisors in each age group rated their older employes with remarkable similarity. The supervisors were asked to compare their older workers with their younger ones and following is a summary of their report.

1. Supervisors in business and industry consider a MAJORITY of their workers 60 years of age and older to be as good as, or superior to, average younger workers with reference to absenteeism, dependability, judgment, work ability, work volume and getting along with others.

2. Supervisors have had generally favorable results with new employes recruited from the ranks of the middle-aged. The fact that 38 per cent of the employes in this survey group have been with their present organizations less than ten years means that these persons must have been hired when past 50 years of age.

3. Supervisors indicated by their ratings that organizations which require employes to retire at a certain age, such as 65, are losing a great deal of valuable productivity.

4. Supervisors believe that a MAJORITY of their workers 60 years of age and older have no apparent age-connected weaknesses.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The effects of "automation" on American industry and labor are just beginning to dawn, but nobody really knows what the answers are for this new, second industrial revolution.

This was the net result of a one-day automation conference in Washington. It was arranged by Congress of Industrial Organizations to arouse public interest in the issue. All it did was to bring into sharp focus the lack of knowledge about it and the sharp conflict of opinions among experts.

"Automation," as most people have learned in the last year or so, is the coined word that stands for the new technology in manufacturing. It's machines doing the work of men and women—doing it better and faster and more of it with fewer people at greatly reduced costs.

Charges that automation will displace millions of workers—or that it won't—are now being hurled around rather loosely.

THE MOST OPTIMISTIC STATEMENT came from Prof. Walter S. Buckingham of Georgia Tech: "If properly understood, applied, developed and controlled," he said, "automation, together with atomic energy, may provide the means to eliminate poverty for the first time in the world."

This was obviously a long-range prediction. Every CIO official, surprisingly enough, was inclined to go along with this as an objective. They say they welcome antomation.

But what bothers them particularly is the short-range transition for the present, human hands assembly-line technique to the new automated production. What they fear is temporary unemployment and forced retraining in new skills for literally millions of workers displaced by machines.

Speaking more from the management point of view Dr. Donald P. Campbell of Massachusetts Institute of Technology declared he did not know of a single automation installation that had replaced a workman. Always, said this 35-year-old automation consultant and expert, more men are required to service the new machines than are displaced by them.

INCIDENTALLY, NONE OF THE EXPERTS in this field is over 45, so new is the science.

John Diebold, who is 28 is head of his own engineering consultants' firm and editor of Automatic Control, takes the Campbell prediction a step further. He says there is likely to be a labor shortage along with automation. He bases this on a belief that retirement age is decreasing while the age at which young people enter the work force is increasing.

All these rosy predictions are questioned, however, by union labor officials who get the monthly reports from their locals of men laid off by machines.

James E. Carey, president of International Union of Electrical Workers, cited automated TV and radio assembly machines where two workers now take the place of 200, to make 1000 sets a day.

Joseph A. Bierne, president of Communication Workers, mentioned 17,000 jobs in the telephone industry that disappeared in 1954. This is an industry that is now 83 per cent mechanized and will be 95 per cent by 1956.

OTIS BRUBAKER OF UNITED STEELWORKERS cited figures of a 60 to 75 per cent increase in steel production in 15 years, with a net employment decline of 10 per cent.

Mr. Campbell answered this by saying that while fewer men might be required to roll the steel, more men would be required to distribute it and make new machines. But he admitted that no one had the figures to prove this.

Mr. Diebold emphasized that automation itself was a new industry of 1000 plants and $3 billion annual product. But he did not know how many men were employed in it.

Walter Reuther, CIO and United Auto Workers president, admits there are no simple answers to these questions and no panaceas. He emphasizes that economic production alone is not the end result of automation. There are moral and social and spiritual responsibilies involved. He urges a congressional investigation to find a new national economic policy to keep people from being hurt by automation.

Russia's Agreement to Sign Austrian Treaty After 10 Years Wait Stirs France

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Paris, April 24—It is hard to describe the shock which swept official circles in France when the first news came that Soviet Russia after ten years had decided to abandon her stubborn refusal to sign the peace treaty with Austria to which all the other powers had long ago given their approval.

Did it mean a real change in the Soviet attitude, or was it just another move in a cruel game often called the "cold war"? These questions were asked again and again as French officials prepared themselves for the repercussions. For anything that Moscow does has to be reckoned with in terms of domestic propaganda carried on here by thousands of Communist agents who have the advantage of maintaining a political party headquarters with all the machinery necessary to influence votes in the Parliament even outside the Communist bloc itself.

THUS, FOR example, the most important result of the Moscow action in agreeing to approve an Austrian treaty is to give a decided impetus to the movement for a "four power conference." This means a meeting of the Foreign Ministers of Soviet Russia, Great Britain and France and Secretary of State Dulles.

If such a conference could bring forth an agreement not merely to approve the neutralization of Austria but also—what is of infinitely greater importance—the neutralization of Soviet Russian herself, the event would be a real step toward world peace.

FOR TODAY it is not so important whether Austria agrees to keep out of any alliances of a military nature but whether Soviet Russia will take convincing steps to end her military threat against the West. It is the Soviet Union's refusal to withdraw her armies of occupation from East Germany and from the satellite states which has caused the western allies to take counter-measures such as the establishment of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, with its military bases and coordinated forces in being. Nobody would have suggested such a military alliance in 1946 when the Soviet Union was still a trusted ally. It was only when Moscow began to go it alone and to generate friction throughout the occupied zones and especially in Berlin that the free world woke up to the fact that the rulers of the slave world had hostile designs on the western countries.

Having taken protective measures, the Western allies today are moving in diplomacy on the theory that an attack has been deterred and that Soviet Russia has been checkmated militarily and will begin, therefore, to play ball with the other members of the team which saved her from Hitler's murderous conquest.

BUT MORALITY is never imposed by force or the threat to use it. Gangsters remain gangsters no matter how many reprieves they get. Unfortunately in the free world, where materialism and the comforts of living have bred a wishful-thinking philosophy — that Soviet Russia will reform if a lot of four-power conferences are held—there is a tendency to throw moral principles to the winds and rely wholly on expedient policies. This means giving concessions to Soviet Russia to buy her co-operation — a position which may make the Communist regime wonder if the amassed military force will ever be used against her and whether the Western governments have not after all succumbed to a peace-at-any-price doctrine.

Out of precisely such a miscalculation by the aggressor came World War 1 and also World War 2. But history is soon forgotten and those who call attention to it or insist on morality above expediency are shouted down as advocates of "preventive war" or as "warmongers."

THE HYPOCRISY of it all can best be illustrated by the speeches here and abroad demanding that Red China be recognized and admitted to the United Nations because the Peiping government has full control of the main territory of China. It is solemnly asserted, moreover, that this action need not mean approval or disapproval of any form of government. Yet the Franco government has been in full territorial control of Spain for many years now, and not a voice do these same sponsors of Red China—either in Europe or at the Bandung Asian-African Conference or even in the United States—raise in behalf of the admission of Spain into the UN. Yugoslavia, with her dictatorship, is a member, and so are the Communist states, but they come from the "Left" side while Spain is on the "Right." To confused men in political life, like Clement Attlee, this evidently makes a difference.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

One of the Roosevelt myths would have it that he was a nautical fellow with special affection for the navy. The fact is that he enjoyed bossing admirals and persecuted high officers of long patriotic service and unflinching honor who refused to knuckle under. In the first World War when he was assistant to Josephus Daniels, Roosevelt accused Captain J. K. Taussig, U. S. N., of telling lies in opposing Roosevelt's practice of restoring to duty aboard destroyers men who had served time at Portsmouth prison for homosexual acts and other crimes. Taussig had taken the American destroyer flotilla to Queenstown and his professional record was good all the way to his death with the rank of vice-admiral after World War 2.

After Roosevelt publicly charged him with uttering a false statement, Captain Taussig asked for a naval court of inquiry "for redress of wrongs." He was turned down. Taussig was the victim of spiteful discrimination from the hour of Roosevelt's first inauguration as president until he died.

The Providence Journal gave Roosevelt a rough going-over in 1920 when he was barnstorming for vice president on a League of Nations platform. When Roosevelt filed a suit for political purposes, the Journal drew up an answer so revolting in the particulars that Roosevelt quit cold.

The Journal had good sources of information at the War College and other institutions and among retired officers. In its effort to get Roosevelt into court so that he would have to explain shocking depravity at Portsmouth which began soon after he was sworn in as assistant secretary, the Journal said:

"For the past two years you have done your best by questionable methods to secure the good will of the navy yard workmen and enlisted men. You attempted to lead them to believe that you were their friend, while their immediate superior officers you ridiculed and denounced. For your own political future and to gain the confidence of such men as Murphy (boss of Tammany Hall), Taggart, (the Indiana Democratic boss and gambling-house operator) and Daniels, you boasted in 1918 that you controlled the vote of all the workmen in all navy yards. You practically agreed to deliver that vote in all congressional districts where navy yards are located and, with the aid of subordinates placed in the Navy Department by yourself, you are attempting to do this very thing in your campaign for the vice-presidency."

Thomas Mott Osborne, a New York politician appointed warden of Portsmouth by Roosevelt, organized a welfare league similar to one which he had instituted at Sing Sing. The Portsmouth League's directorate included three homosexuals, one murderer and one man convicted of assault with intent to commit rape. Dr. John D. Lane, of Bennington, Vt., the naval medical officer, later wrote that Major Lauren Willis, commandant of the marine guard, threatened to seize the prison and throw Osborne into his own guardhouse. Osborne threatened to report him to Daniels and may have done so. Roosevelt's worst abuse of a naval officer was the smear put upon Admiral Kimmel by means of a loaded board known as the Roberts Commission which investigated "derelictions of duty" by army or navy personnel at Pearl Harbor. This limitation of the commission's jurisdiction precluded any criticism of Roosevelt himself, Frank Knox or any other guilty Washington bureaucrat.

Admiral William E. Standley, who accepted an appointment to this whitewashing board, later wrote that but for the restriction of jurisdiction the commission probably would have reported that "high authorities in Washington" failed to "discharge their full duty." He is mistaken. He himself might have done so but not that commission.

Later, Roosevelt double-crossed Standley. He sent Standley to Moscow as ambassador and then sent in both Joe Davies and Wendell Willkie to undermine him with the Kremlin. Standley quit and came home.

Admiral Kimmel, though sick and beset by many personal troubles, including the loss of a son who went down with an American submarine of which he was commander in the Pacific war, struggled for years to compel Roosevelt and Truman to give him a court-martial. He recently turned out a book which is an excellent historical supplement entitled "Admiral Kimmel's Story" in which he says:

"When the information available in Washington prior to the attack was fully disclosed I was appalled. Nothing in my experience of nearly 42 years in the navy had prepared me for the actions of the highest officials in our government which denied this vital information to the Pearl Harbor commanders."

Kimmel accepted the command after Admiral J. O. Richardson had demanded that Roosevelt take the fleet back to our continental west coast. Kimmel referred to Richardson's relief as his "dismissal." Richardson pounded Roosevelt's desk and raised his voice. This "hurt Roosevelt's feelings," and 3,000 Americans died to vindicate Richardson's judgment.

Senator William Jenner, the Indiana Republican, as chairman of a subcommittee of the judiciary took testimony in 1953 fixing the facts about the protection by Roosevelt and Knox of Communist radio men aboard American merchantmen during the second war. Admirals Adolphus Staton, a Medal of Honor man, and S. C. Hooper, a great radio expert who died recently, were "retired" and their qualification board for commercial radio personnel was allowed to disintegrate because they tried to keep Communists off American ships.

The only naval officers with any reason to regret Roosevelt's death are syncophants who owed him promotion, pay and decorations. The majority of the corps have reason to regret more deeply that he ever lived.

STUPID CHARGE

The Reds will never win the Battle of Bandung with the kind of propaganda excesses reflected in their wild charges of "American sabotage," after the crash of an Indian plane bearing Peiping's underlings to Indonesia.

Investigation of this incident will go forward, as it should. It is customary, however, to wait until completion of an inquiry before announcing findings. The Chinese Reds didn't even wait for the sketchiest preliminary report before jumping on the "sabotage" theme.

Even India's Prime Minister Nehru, whose search for a neutral course often leads him down some strange byways, declared that the crash in the South China Sea had some "very unusual features." This is pure, unfounded guesswork, since he could not have known any significant details when he made the comment.

The government at Hong Kong, the plane's last stop, said the Air India craft was under heavy guard during its one-hour pause, and that fuel and baggage loading were handled by the Communists and the Indian crew. No one else went aboard and no item of cargo was taken on that was not checked by the Reds and the crew.

Therefore the chances of sabotage by anybody would seem very remote. A moment's thought would convince any sensible person that sabotaging part of the Chinese delegation to Bandung is no way to win a propaganda war, anyway. The Red charges presume vast stupidity on America's part.

In truth it is the Communists who are being stupid. The Moscow-Peiping axis has heard for years that Communists make wonderful propaganda, that they can't be matched. Evidently they believe it. Evidently they think they can toss out any weird tale and it will score somewhere among the worlds' gullible millions.

NEXT, MENTAL ILLNESS

When Dr. Jonas Salk and two other scientists associated with the remarkable polio vaccine story were asked what broad medical science should next attack, they all three said the field of mental illness.

Not cancer, not heart disease, still the great killers, but mental illness, the great disabler.

Half the available hospital beds in this country are occupied today by mental patients. Mental and emotional disturbances are so commonplace that they must be set down as among the more tragic marks of this complex civilization.

The problem certainly is not wholly a medical one. Many could be saved from emotional crippling if this civilization of ours was doing a better job of building and preserving family and other human relationships. We must find a way to reduce the confusion and instability which puts so terrible a strain on many people, and makes their adjustment to life so difficult.

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The effects of "automation" on American industry and labor are just beginning to dawn, but nobody really knows what the answers are for this new, second industrial revolution.

This was the net result of a one-day automation conference in Washington. It was arranged by Congress of Industrial Organizations to arouse public interest in the issue. All it did was to bring into sharp focus the lack of knowledge about it and the sharp conflict of opinions among experts.

"Automation," as most people have learned in the last year or so, is the coined word that stands for the new technology in manufacturing. It's machines doing the work of men and women—doing it better and faster and more of it with fewer people at greatly reduced costs.

Charges that automation will displace millions of workers—or that it won't—are now being hurled around rather loosely.

THE MOST OPTIMISTIC STATEMENT came from Prof. Walter S. Buckingham of Georgia Tech: "If properly understood, applied, developed and controlled," he said, "automation, together with atomic energy, may provide the means to eliminate poverty for the first time in the world."

This was obviously a long-range prediction. Every CIO official, surprisingly enough, was inclined to go along with this as an objective. They say they welcome antomation.

But what bothers them particularly is the short-range transition for the present, human hands assembly-line technique to the new automated production. What they fear is temporary unemployment and forced retraining in new skills for literally millions of workers displaced by machines.

Speaking more from the management point of view Dr. Donald P. Campbell of Massachusetts Institute of Technology declared he did not know of a single automation installation that had replaced a workman. Always, said this 35-year-old automation consultant and expert, more men are required to service the new machines than are displaced by them.

INCIDENTALLY, NONE OF THE EXPERTS in this field is over 45, so new is the science.

John Diebold, who is 28 is head of his own engineering consultants' firm and editor of Automatic Control, takes the Campbell prediction a step further. He says there is likely to be a labor shortage along with automation. He bases this on a belief that retirement age is decreasing while the age at which young people enter the work force is increasing.

All these rosy predictions are questioned, however, by union labor officials who get the monthly reports from their locals of men laid off by machines.

James E. Carey, president of International Union of Electrical Workers, cited automated TV and radio assembly machines where two workers now take the place of 200, to make 1000 sets a day.

Joseph A. Bierne, president of Communication Workers, mentioned 17,000 jobs in the telephone industry that disappeared in 1954. This is an industry that is now 83 per cent mechanized and will be 95 per cent by 1956.

OTIS BRUBAKER OF UNITED STEELWORKERS cited figures of a 60 to 75 per cent increase in steel production in 15 years, with a net employment decline of 10 per cent.

Mr. Campbell answered this by saying that while fewer men might be required to roll the steel, more men would be required to distribute it and make new machines. But he admitted that no one had the figures to prove this.

Mr. Diebold emphasized that automation itself was a new industry of 1000 plants and $3 billion annual product. But he did not know how many men were employed in it.

Walter Reuther, CIO and United Auto Workers president, admits there are no simple answers to these questions and no panaceas. He emphasizes that economic production alone is not the end result of automation. There are moral and social and spiritual responsibilies involved. He urges a congressional investigation to find a new national economic policy to keep people from being hurt by automation.

Russia's Agreement to Sign Austrian Treaty After 10 Years Wait Stirs France

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Paris, April 24—It is hard to describe the shock which swept official circles in France when the first news came that Soviet Russia after ten years had decided to abandon her stubborn refusal to sign the peace treaty with Austria to which all the other powers had long ago given their appróval.

Did it mean a real change in the Soviet attitude, or was it just another move in a cruel game often called the "cold war"? These questions were asked again and again as French officials prepared themselves for the repercussions. For anything that Moscow does has to be reckoned with in terms of domestic propaganda carried on here by thousands of Communist agents who have the advantage of maintaining a political party headquarters with all the machinery necessary to influence votes in the Parliament even outside the Communist bloc itself.

THUS, FOR example, the most important result of the Moscow action in agreeing to approve an Austrian treaty is to give a decided impetus to the movement for a "four power conference." This means a meeting of the Foreign Ministers of Soviet Russia, Great Britain and France and Secretary of State Dulles.

If such a conference could bring forth an agreement not merely to approve the neutralization of Austria but also—what is of infinitely greater importance—the neutralization of Soviet Russian herself, the event would be a real step toward world peace.

FOR TODAY it is not so important whether Austria agrees to keep out of any alliances of a military nature but whether Soviet Russia will take convincing steps to end her military threat against the West. It is the Soviet Union's refusal to withdraw her armies of occupation from East Germany and from the satellite states which has caused the western allies to take counter-measures such as the establishment of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, with its military bases and coordinated forces in being. Nobody would have suggested such a military alliance in 1946 when the Soviet Union was still a trusted ally. It was only when Moscow began to go it alone and to generate friction throughout the occupied zones and especially in Berlin that the free world woke up to the fact that the rulers of the slave world had hostile designs on the western countries.

Having taken protective measures, the Western allies today are moving in diplomacy on the theory that an attack has been deterred and that Soviet Russia has been checkmated militarily and will begin, therefore, to play ball with the other members of the team which saved her from Hitler's murderous conquest.

BUT MORALITY is never imposed by force or the threat to use it. Gangsters remain gangsters no matter how many reprieves they get. Unfortunately in the free world, where materialism and the comforts of living have bred a wishful-thinking philosophy — that Soviet Russia will reform if a lot of four-power conferences are held—there is a tendency to throw moral principles to the winds and rely wholly on expedient policies. This means giving concessions to Soviet Russia to buy her co-operation — a position which may make the Communist regime wonder if the amassed military force will ever be used against her and whether the Western governments have not after all succumbed to a peace-at-any-price doctrine.

Out of precisely such a miscalculation by the aggressor came World War 1 and also World War 2. But history is soon forgotten and those who call attention to it or insist on morality above expediency are shouted down as advocates of "preventive war" or as "warmongers."

THE HYPOCRISY of it all can best be illustrated by the speeches here and abroad demanding that Red China be recognized and admitted to the United Nations because the Peiping government has full control of the main territory of China. It is solemnly asserted, moreover, that this action need not mean approval or disapproval of any form of government. Yet the Franco government has been in full territorial control of Spain for many years now, and not a voice do these same sponsors of Red China—either in Europe or at the Bandung Asian-African Conference or even in the United States—raise in behalf of the admission of Spain into the UN. Yugoslavia, with her dictatorship, is a member, and so are the Communist states, but they come from the "Left" side while Spain is on the "Right." To confused men in political life, like Clement Attlee, this evidently makes a difference.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

One of the Roosevelt myths would have it that he was a nautical fellow with special affection for the navy. The fact is that he enjoyed bossing admirals and persecuted high officers of long patriotic service and unflinching honor who refused to knuckle under. In the first World War when he was assistant to Josephus Daniels, Roosevelt accused Captain J. K. Taussig, U. S. N., of telling lies in opposing Roosevelt's practice of restoring to duty aboard destroyers men who had served time at Portsmouth prison for homosexual acts and other crimes. Taussig had taken the American destroyer flotilla to Queenstown and his professional record was good all the way to his death with the rank of vice-admiral after World War 2.

After Roosevelt publicly charged him with uttering a false statement, Captain Taussig asked for a naval court of inquiry "for redress of wrongs." He was turned down. Taussig was the victim of spiteful discrimination from the hour of Roosevelt's first inauguration as president until he died.

The Providence Journal gave Roosevelt a rough going-over in 1920 when he was barnstorming for vice president on a League of Nations platform. When Roosevelt filed a suit for political purposes, the Journal drew up an answer so revolting in the particulars that Roosevelt quit cold.

The Journal had good sources of information at the War College and other institutions and among retired officers. In its effort to get Roosevelt into court so that he would have to explain shocking depravity at Portsmouth which began soon after he was sworn in as assistant secretary, the Journal said:

"For the past two years you have done your best by questionable methods to secure the good will of the navy yard workmen and enlisted men. You attempted to lead them to believe that you were their friend, while their immediate superior officers you ridiculed and denounced. For your own political future and to gain the confidence of such men as Murphy (boss of Tammany Hall), Taggart, (the Indiana Democratic boss and gambling-house operator) and Daniels, you boasted in 1918 that you controlled the vote of all the workmen in all navy yards. You practically agreed to deliver that vote in all congressional districts where navy yards are located and, with the aid of subordinates placed in the Navy Department by yourself, you are attempting to do this very thing in your campaign for the vice-presidency."

Thomas Mott Osborne, a New York politician appointed warden of Portsmouth by Roosevelt, organized a welfare league similar to one which he had instituted at Sing Sing. The Portsmouth League's directorate included three homosexuals, one murderer and one man convicted of assault with intent to commit rape. Dr. John D. Lane, of Bennington, Vt., the naval medical officer, later wrote that Major Lauren Willis, commandant of the marine guard, threatened to seize the prison and throw Osborne into his own guardhouse. Osborne threatened to report him to Daniels and may have done so. Roosevelt's worst abuse of a naval officer was the smear put upon Admiral Kimmel by means of a loaded board known as the Roberts Commission which investigated "derelictions of duty" by army or navy personnel at Pearl Harbor. This limitation of the commission's jurisdiction precluded any criticism of Roosevelt himself, Frank Knox or any other guilty Washington bureaucrat.

Admiral William E. Standley, who accepted an appointment to this whitewashing board, later wrote that but for the restriction of jurisdiction the commission probably would have reported that "high authorities in Washington" failed to "discharge their full duty." He is mistaken. He himself might have done so but not that commission.

Later, Roosevelt double-crossed Standley. He sent Standley to Moscow as ambassador and then sent in both Joe Davies and Wendell Willkie to undermine him with the Kremlin. Standley quit and came home.

Admiral Kimmel, though sick and beset by many personal troubles, including the loss of a son who went down with an American submarine of which he was commander in the Pacific war, struggled for years to compel Roosevelt and Truman to give him a court-martial. He recently turned out a book which is an excellent historical supplement entitled "Admiral Kimmel's Story" in which he says:

"When the information available in Washington prior to the attack was fully disclosed I was appalled. Nothing in my experience of nearly 42 years in the navy had prepared me for the actions of the highest officials in our government which denied this vital information to the Pearl Harbor commanders."

Kimmel accepted the command after Admiral J. O. Richardson had demanded that Roosevelt take the fleet back to our continental west coast. Kimmel referred to Richardson's relief as his "dismissal." Richardson pounded Roosevelt's desk and raised his voice. This "hurt Roosevelt's feelings," and 3,000 Americans died to vindicate Richardson's judgment.

Senator William Jenner, the Indiana Republican, as chairman of a subcommittee of the judiciary took testimony in 1953 fixing the facts about the protection by Roosevelt and Knox of Communist radio men aboard American merchantmen during the second war. Admirals Adolphus Staton, a Medal of Honor man, and S. C. Hooper, a great radio expert who died recently, were "retired" and their qualification board for commercial radio personnel was allowed to disintegrate because they tried to keep Communists off American ships.

The only naval officers with any reason to regret Roosevelt's death are syncophants who owed him promotion, pay and decorations. The majority of the corps have reason to regret more deeply that he ever lived.

School Board Discusses Contract

New Paltz, April 23—At the regular meeting of the New Paltz School Board held Monday night at the high school, Anthony Schiro presented the contracts for agreement on the renting of his store building to house some of the overflow of school children for the next school term. Since the new addition to the school will not be completed by the fall opening of school it is necessary to house some of the children in another building other than the Hasbrouck House where they are now housing the kindergarten and young children of the grade school level. The increased enrollment has deemed it necessary to obtain this additional space. Mr. Schiro will have the building completed by the time school starts, and the board will supply the water, heat, and electricity for the building. The lease will run from June, 1955 to June, 1956.

There were representatives present from the Tuttletown school, to back up a letter they had written to the board, stating that they had raised $60 towards some playground equipment, and wondered if the board would help to get some for the children. The board feels the need for playground equipment there is definite, but since it is not certain how much land there is, a small survey must be made before they can decide on what equipment and how much can be put in. They agreed to put into the budget for next year an allowance for aiding the group in installing such equipment for next school term.

A letter from Dr. George Thomas of the Campus School was read asking for more of Mr. Webster McDonald's time for their seventh and eighth grade pupils in the industrial arts program for the coming school term, but the board agreed with Mr. Bugar that such additional time would be impossible to grant since there is not even at the present time for the High School students. The present time that is given the Campus School students can be continued for the coming year, but no more.

Mr. Bugar announced that better than half of the school population at the High School is on the honor list.

There will be a town team this year, which requested the use of the field at the High School for baseball games which will be played Sunday afternoons. Mr. Bugar granted them the permission to use the field.

The process of the building is going along smoothly according to the clerk of the works, and the structural steel is expected by May 15.

The agricultural program was discussed again at some length, and the whole matter was left to rest until after Mr. Bugar was to meet with a representative of the state to discuss the problem involved here at this school. The Agriculture committee is leaning to the request of more shop work in the course, and the board feels that is the one thing they have to cut down on, since the space is at a premium.

Nicholas Badami requested the use of the gymnasium for the night of May 7 to hold the dance which will climax the Apple Blossom Festival of New Paltz with the crowning of the apple blossom queen. This event is being resumed again after having been neglected for years. There was some difficulty in planning this event since the day happens to be the same as the Hudson Relays.

Willard Rhoades of Pancake Hollow came to represent the Tri-boro School. He informed the board that they are interested in centralization with the New Paltz school district in the future if Clintondale goes New Paltz way, since Tri-boro must wait until after Clintondale decides what they want to do. Rhoades wanted to find out if it would be possible to take in the seventh and eighth grades of Tri-boro in the New Paltz school for the coming year. Mr. Bugar informed him that at present New Paltz School District does not have seventh and eighth grades; they are taken care of at the Campus School. Second, he informed Rhoades that even if the two grades would be under their jurisdiction, there is not sufficient room this year.

Two new teachers are being signed up for next year. They are going to teach the kindergarten and art.

Luck Not Involved In This Game Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played, South managed to make a hash of it. He claimed that he was very unlucky, but the right line of play should have been quite clear.

When West led the six of clubs, declarer played low from the dummy. East won with the ace of clubs and returned a trump.

Declarer won the trump in dummy with the queen, took the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond with the five of hearts, led the nine of hearts to the ace, and ruffed his last diamond with dummy's last trump.

Now South had to get back to his own hand to draw the last trump. He tried to cash the king of clubs, planning to ruff the next club, but East ruffed immediately. The defenders later got two spade tricks, and South was left looking for excuses.

The play of the first trick made it clear that West had the queen of clubs, and South needed nothing else to assure his contract. When East returned a trump at the second trick, declarer should have drawn three rounds of trumps and should then have led the jack of clubs from his hand.

West would have to cover with the queen of clubs, and dummy would take the king. The nine of clubs would then be led and passed around to West. This would establish dummy's eight of clubs as a trick.

Hence declarer would discard one spade on the nine of clubs and another on the eight of clubs, losing only one of those tricks. He would eventually ruff one diamond and lose the other. Altogether, he would lose two clubs and one diamond, making his contract.

School Board Discusses Contract

New Paltz, April 23- At the regular meeting of the New Paltz School Board held Monday night at the high school, Anthony Schiro presented the contracts for agreement on the renting of his store building to house some of the overflow of school children for the next school term. Since the new addition to the school will not be completed by the fall opening of school it is necessary to house some of the children in another building other than the Hasbrouck House where they are now housing the kindergarten and young children of the grade school level. The increased enrollment has deemed it necessary to obtain this additional space. Mr. Schiro will have the building completed by the time school starts, and the board will supply the water, heat, and electricity for the building. The lease will run from June, 1955 to June, 1956.

There were representatives present from the Tuttletown school, to back up a letter they had written to the board, stating that they had raised $60 towards some playground equipment, and wondered if the board would help to get some for the children. The board feels the need for playground equipment there is definite, but since it is not certain how much land there is, a small survey must be made before they can decide on what equipment and how much can be put in. They agreed to put into the budget for next year an allowance for aiding the group in installing such equipment for next school term.

A letter from Dr. George Thomas of the Campus School was read asking for more of Mr. Webster McDonald's time for their seventh and eighth grade pupils in the industrial arts program for the coming school term, but the board agreed with Mr. Bugar that such additional time would be impossible to grant since there is not even at the present time for the High School students. The present time that is given the Campus School students can be continued for the coming year, but no more.

Mr. Bugar announced that better than half of the school population at the High School is on the honor list.

There will be a town team this year, which requested the use of the field at the High School for baseball games which will be played Sunday afternoons. Mr. Bugar granted them the permission to use the field.

The process of the building is going along smoothly according to the clerk of the works, and the structural steel is expected by May 15.

The agricultural program was discussed again at some length, and the whole matter was left to rest until after Mr. Bugar was to meet with a representative of the state to discuss the problem involved here at this school. The Agriculture committee is leaning to the request of more shop work in the course, and the board feels that is the one thing they have to cut down on, since the space is at a premium.

Nicholas Badami requested the use of the gymnasium for the night of May 7 to hold the dance which will climax the Apple Blossom Festival of New Paltz with the crowning of the apple blossom queen. This event is being resumed again after having been neglected for years. There was some difficulty in planning this event since the day happens to be the same as the Hudson Relays.

Willard Rhoades of Pancake Hollow came to represent the Tri-boro School. He informed the board that they are interested in centralization with the New Paltz school district in the future if Clintondale goes New Paltz way, since Tri-boro must wait until after Clintondale decides what they want to do. Rhoades wanted to find out if it would be possible to take in the seventh and eighth grades of Tri-boro in the New Paltz school for the coming year. Mr. Bugar informed him that at present New Paltz School District does not have seventh and eighth grades; they are taken care of at the Campus School. Second, he informed Rhoades that even if the two grades would be under their jurisdiction, there is not sufficient room this year.

Two new teachers are being signed up for next year. They are going to teach the kindergarten and art.

Luck Not Involved In This Game Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played, South managed to make a hash of it. He claimed that he was very unlucky, but the right line of play should have been quite clear.

When West led the six of clubs, declarer played low from the dummy. East won with the ace of clubs and returned a trump.

Declarer won the trump in dummy with the queen, took the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond with the five of hearts, led the nine of hearts to the ace, and ruffed his last diamond with dummy's last trump.

Now South had to get back to his own hand to draw the last trump. He tried to cash the king of clubs, planning to ruff the next club, but East ruffed immediately. The defenders later got two spade tricks, and South was left looking for excuses.

The play of the first trick made it clear that West had the queen of clubs, and South needed nothing else to assure his contract. When East returned a trump at the second trick, declarer should have drawn three the queen of clubs, and dummy would take the king. The nine of clubs would then be led and passed around to West. This rounds of trumps and should then have led the jack of clubs from his hand.

West would have to cover with would establish dummy's eight of clubs as a trick.

Hence declarer would discard one spade on the nine of clubs and another on the eight of clubs, losing only one of those tricks. He would eventually ruff one diamond and lose the other. Altogether, he would lose two clubs and one diamond, making his contract.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

WHEN HOTEL IS MORE PRACTICAL

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I will soon be visiting in a distant city for a week, and a relative of mine has asked us to stay at their house. They have a good-sized house and could easily accommodate us. However, I would much prefer to stay at a hotel. We spent some time with them last year and it was very unsatisfactory. Their habits are entirely different from ours and we would be much happier at a hotel. Could I possibly refuse her invitation without hurting her feelings?"

You can perhaps explain to your relative that your husband's and your own schedule will be very full and unpredictable, and that as a result you feel that you will really have to go to a hotel.

When Fiancee Is Able to Help

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong for me, a young woman soon to be married, to help my fiance pay the monthly payments on the furniture? We are both employed and each of us has a fairly good income. My mother says that in her day this was not done; that the furniture was the entire responsibility of the man, and that it is incorrect for me to share the cost. Your views on this matter will be appreciated.

Answer: Times have changed, and today it is entirely correct for a bride-to-be to help her fiance pay for the furniture, when she is able to do so.

A Name Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: My uncle died two years ago and his wife has recently remarried. I have always been fond of this "aunt" and still call her Aunt Mary. However, my problem concerns her new husband. What do I call him? It seems incongruous to call her Aunt Mary and him Mr. Jones, and, on the other hand, I can't see calling a perfect stranger uncle. What is the solution?

Answer: I think the best thing for you to do is to start calling him Mr. Jones and then as you get to know him, and like him, ask him if he wouldn't rather have you call him "Uncle Harry."

Woolworth Date Still Unsettled

The perennial story about the beginning of construction of a new Woolworth store for Kingston has made its 1955 appearance.

Officially, there has been no announcement as to when construction will start. Latest unofficial information indicates that next month will be the date—but the same reports have circulated every year for the past 10 years, ever since steel for the project was shipped to Kingston. The steel is still stockpiled behind the present store at 311 Wall street.

It is known, as evidenced by the presence of the steel, that the chain does plan to build a modern store in Kingston. The only question is the date that construction will begin. Plans are said to include a bakery and a much larger restaurant department with soda fountain.

Old Table Ware Trade-In Plan

A new plan allowing families for the first time to "trade-in" old table-ware toward the purchase of new sterling silver will be available in Kingston through Safford & Scudder, Wall street jewelers, Stuart S. Randall, manager of the store announced today. This special program will be in effect until June 30.

Under the plan a purchaser may turn in as many as 52 pieces of sterling or plate toward the Wallace Anniversary set, which also includes a mahogany chest. Under the plan Wallace Silversmiths, makers of quality sterling flatware, will purchase through Safford and Scudder, used pieces of plated or sterling if a family applies the money they receive toward the purchase of a special 120th Anniversary 52-piece set of Wallace sterling, available in any one of Wallace's famous "Third Dimension Beauty" patterns. This arrangement has been started in stores throughout the country.

The trade-in plan was announced as silver industry figures showed that sales of solid silver are now on a virtual par with plated silver for the first time in history. Sterling is selling six times faster than it was a decade ago. The plan is expected to appeal to families with old tableware unwanted or unsuited for the modern bride; married couples who started with plated ware and the prospective brides who previously did not aspire to sterling immediately. Trade in allowances can total as much as $130.

Spring Clearance Sale

We have hesitated for some time before announcing this sale because as you all know, we always do guarantee to undersell, in equal quality merchandise, any furniture store in Ulster County, but we find we are considerably overstocked on upholstered living room pieces, both suites and odd chairs, and must move these extra pieces immediately. No matter what anyone insinuates . . . no matter what form of misleading double-talk is used . . . we feel you would be very intelligent to check our prices and quality before you definitely decide to buy anything in the furniture line. The facts are these: In less than four years my wife and I have built up our wayside furniture store on Route 28A in West Hurley to the largest store of its kind in the county.

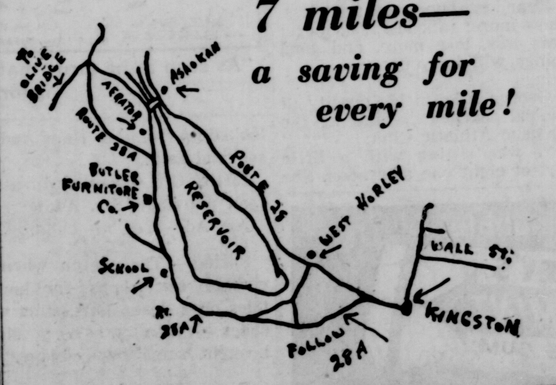

We sell here, more furniture than most stores in the convenient city locations every day of the week, and there's a DARN GOOD REASON! We'll give you BETTER FURNITURE FOR LESS MONEY than the others are able to. You don't have to feel obligated, in any way, when you come up here to look over our huge variety of all styles in furniture. Naturally, we do appreciate your business, but if you don't see anything you like, we're still glad you came, and will be happy to have you come again.

There's no "high pressure" here. WE DON'T NEED IT. We know our merchandise is good, and we guarantee our prices are better, so it's your own decision as to what you purchase. For instance — supposing you're interested in good substantially built furniture, nationally known, say Kroehler, Drexel, Valentine-Seaver, Karpen, N. Hickory, Morganton, Pennsylvania house, or perhaps some other quality grade. Does it really matter where you buy it? The furniture would be made in the same factory — to the same specifications, according to the standard in workmanship set up by the particular concern you're interested in. Therefore, when you can buy the SAME THING — made in the SAME CONCERN — at our low overhead Wayside Store — for LESS MONEY than elsewhere — it's just plain good economical sense to go where you'll get the "mostest for the leastest." Many, many of your neighbors and friends have, and we know they're well satisfied because from the day we opened our doors, 'TIL RIGHT NOW, over 80% of our business is from our satisfied customers sending their friends here to buy whatever furniture they need. Ask your friends about our place. Maybe they have been up here and can tell you what they have seen. It's large, but not fancy, and crowded to the eaves with beautiful, well built furniture of all kinds. If you know good furniture when you see it — without the fancy, dress up setting, you'll see it here, and without the fancy, dressup price tag either. Come up and look things over. If you want help of any kind, such as decorative assistance, information on construction or materials, we'll be pleased to give it to you, but if you just want to look — do so — and take your time — all the time you desire. We won't bother you at all. We could, for this sale, give you a list of prices — "before and after" — a page long, but we think it would be fairer for you to see for yourself just what we, with our lower overhead, can give you in extra values during this sale.

You'll be surprised, and pleasantly so, when you realize what a terrific difference low overhead and low markup will mean in guaranteed savings to you. We're only seven miles from Kingston, on Route 28A, in West Hurley, with a guarantee of quality and savings for every single mile.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

WHEN HOTEL IS MORE PRACTICAL

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I will soon be visiting in a distant city for a week, and a relative of mine has asked us to stay at their house. They have a good-sized house and could easily accommodate us. However, I would much prefer to stay at a hotel. We spent some time with them last year and it was very unsatisfactory. Their habits are entirely different from ours and we would be much happier at a hotel. Could I possibly refuse her invitation without hurting her feelings?"

You can perhaps explain to your relative that your husband's and your own schedule will be very full and unpredictable, and that as a result you feel that you will really have to go to a hotel.

When Fiancee Is Able to Help

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong for me, a young woman soon to be married, to help my fiance pay the monthly payments on the furniture? We are both employed and each of us has a fairly good income. My mother says that in her day this was not done; that the furniture was the entire responsibility of the man, and that it is incorrect for me to share the cost. Your views on this matter will be appreciated.

Answer: Times have changed, and today it is entirely correct for a bride-to-be to help her fiance pay for the furniture, when she is able to do so.

A Name Problem

Dear Mrs. Post: My uncle died two years ago and his wife has recently remarried. I have always been fond of this "aunt" and still call her Aunt Mary. However, my problem concerns her new husband. What do I call him? It seems incongruous to call her Aunt Mary and him Mr. Jones, and, on the other hand, I can't see calling a perfect stranger uncle. What is the solution?

Answer: I think the best thing for you to do is to start calling him Mr. Jones and then as you get to know him, and like him, ask him if he wouldn't rather have you call him "Uncle Harry."

Old Table Ware Trade-In Plan

A new plan allowing families for the first time to "trade-in" old table-ware toward the purchase of new sterling silver will be available in Kingston through Safford & Scudder, Wall street jewelers, Stuart S. Randall, manager of the store announced today. This special program will be in effect until June 30.

Under the plan a purchaser may turn in as many as 52 pieces of sterling or plate toward the Wallace Anniversary set, which also includes a mahogany chest. Under the plan Wallace Silversmiths, makers of quality sterling flatware, will purchase through Safford and Scudder, used pieces of plated or sterling if a family applies the money they receive toward the purchase of a special 120th Anniversary 52-piece set of Wallace sterling, available in any one of Wallace's famous "Third Dimension Beauty" patterns. This arrangement has been started in stores throughout the country.

The trade-in plan was announced as silver industry figures showed that sales of solid silver are now on a virtual par with plated silver for the first time in history. Sterling is selling six times faster than it was a decade ago. The plan is expected to appeal to families with old tableware unwanted or unsuited for the modern bride; married couples who started with plated ware and the prospective brides who previously did not aspire to sterling immediately. Trade in allowances can total as much as $130.

Woolworth Date Still Unsettled

The perennial story about the beginning of construction of a new Woolworth store for Kingston has made its 1955 appearance.

Officially, there has been no announcement as to when construction will start. Latest unofficial information indicates that next month will be the date—but the same reports have circulated every year for the past 10 years, ever since steel for the project was shipped to Kingston. The steel is still stockpiled behind the present store at 311 Wall street.

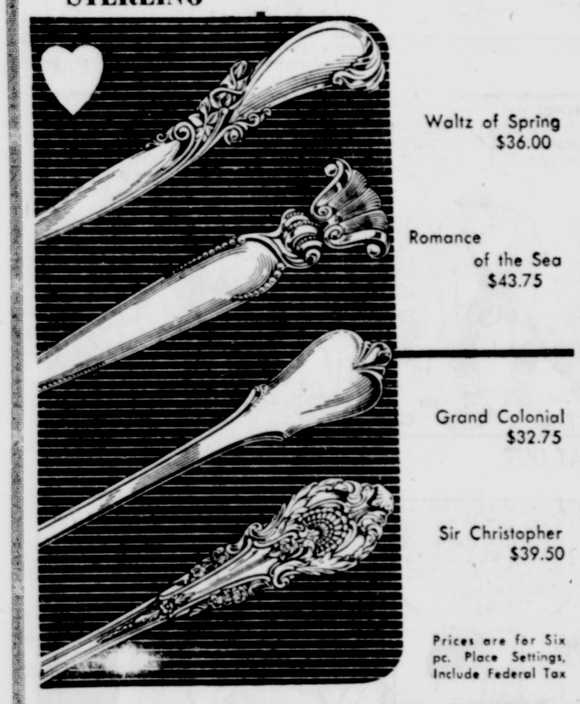

It is known, as evidenced by the presence of the steel, that the chain does plan to build a modern store in Kingston. The only question is the date that construction will begin. Plans are said to include a bakery and a much larger restaurant department with soda fountain.

Spring Clearance Sale

We have hesitated for some time before announcing this sale because as you all know, we always do guarantee to undersell, in equal quality merchandise, any furniture store in Ulster County, but we find we are considerably overstocked on upholstered living room pieces, both suites and odd chairs, and must move these extra pieces immediately. No matter what anyone insinuates . . . no matter what form of misleading double-talk is used . . . we feel you would be very intelligent to check our prices and quality before you definitely decide to buy anything in the furniture line. The facts are these: In less than four years my wife and I have built up our wayside furniture store on Route 28A in West Hurley to the largest store of its kind in the county.

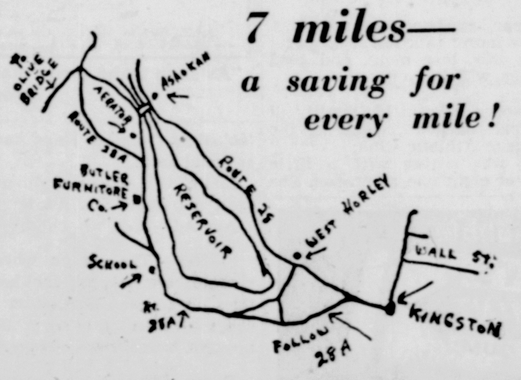

We sell here, more furniture than most stores in the convenient city locations every day of the week, and there's a DARN GOOD REASON! We'll give you BETTER FURNITURE FOR LESS MONEY than the others are able to. You don't have to feel obligated, in any way, when you come up here to look over our huge variety of all styles in furniture. Naturally, we do appreciate your business, but if you don't see anything you like, we're still glad you came, and will be happy to have you come again.

There's no "high pressure" here. WE DON'T NEED IT. We know our merchandise is good, and we guarantee our prices are better, so it's your own decision as to what you purchase. For instance — supposing you're interested in good substantially built furniture, nationally known, say Kroehler, Drexel, Valentine-Seaver, Karpen, N. Hickory, Morganton, Pennsylvania house, or perhaps some other quality grade. Does it really matter where you buy it? The furniture would be made in the same factory — to the same specifications, according to the standard in workmanship set up by the particular concern you're interested in. Therefore, when you can buy the SAME THING — made in the SAME CONCERN — at our low overhead Wayside Store — for LESS MONEY than elsewhere — it's just plain good economical sense to go where you'll get the "mostest for the leastest." # Shootin' Too High?

By FRANK TRIPP

If this shoe pinches, some editors may not put it on. I just spent two hours wading through the brains department of a big newspaper: all of its specialists, experts, authorities and columnists. What I read only confounded my confusion.

I contend no more than that I am an average newspaper reader; just one of the millions to whom the newspaper must appeal if it is to survive.

The highly touted stuff that I just read shot so far over the heads of the bulk of any paper's readership that I could see the customers flocking to the air waves to find something down their alley.

I am talking about the plus material in a newspaper, the constantly increasing highbrow encyclopedic discourses for the few, that make average readers feel small, insignificant, ignorant, and can drive them away from a newspaper as a document not meant for them.

* * *

THE NEWS, honestly reported, is understandable by anybody. Analysis of news by experienced editors is consistently balanced to average mentalities. But when their big name hired help get through expounding weird angles and theories of the news, so as to read different than their contemporaries, the uncertain reader finds himself in the capacity of incompetent editor, without the training to separate the wheat from the chaff.

The newspaper rose to its universal estate by talking on the level of average people's ability to understand—not by lording over them.

The great editors of the past made the newspaper the poor man's university. They appealed from understandable levels to stalwart pioneers, who were guided, largely by their newspapers, to build the America we now enjoy. It was Greeley's simple slogan of monosyllables that sent young men West.

Alas, are our great newspapers to become journals that the very stratum they need most to reach will reject as beyond the realm of their understanding?

* * *

THE MOST PROFOUND truth can be simply told. And better be, these days when discouraged readers may see and hear understandable things, if they cannot read them.

The newspaper must survive upon the interest and in the confidence of the masses, whence came its birthright, not upon the favor of the intelligentsia.

There is a section of the newspaper press, the largest section, that enjoys being dubbed "country papers." And, you know, "country" can mean anything today. Everything is "country" less than 20 stories tall. Your half million city is "country" to the wiseacres I'm writing about. You're from the "sticks"; I'm a "hick" columnist—thank God. Plenty disagree with me, but nobody ever said he didn't understand me.

* * *

THESE COUNTRY EDITORS produce many famed and important papers. They say the same things that their ponderous brothers say, only they couch truths in the language of their realm. They employ familiar language, illustrations and comparisons that make the little fellow see where he stands in the complex national and international picture.

Bill the bartender, Bob at the gas station, Prof. at the high school, all understand them. If readers want the technical they know where to get it. But none of 'em would be without his hometown paper, be it sizeable city or hamlet.

Shokan

Shokan, April 23—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mahar and daughter of Wantaugh, L. I., were Shokan visitors Tuesday. Formerly owners of a state road lot in the DuBois Corners neighborhood, the couple acquired an acreage near Torrino's Inn where they plan to build a summer home.

The Cold Brook railroad yard of the N. Y. Central, where the station building will be retired and only carload freight will be handled henceforth, was the scene of a brick shipping business in the old Ulster & Delaware R. R. days. Bluestone, pulpwood, railroad ties and other up-county products were handled for many years.

Robert Merrihew, Brodhead stone mason who for several years was engaged in building fireplaces and walls on the George W. Pratt place near Tonche Mountain, was in Shokan Wednesday. Rob more recently has laid up several fine fireplaces one of Italian marble.

The frequent passage of automobile carriers through the village would seem to reflect a high degree of prosperity up in Delaware and the counties beyond. Well, the same might be said apropos of the scores of big milk tankers which go up and down the Onteora Trail each day.

A meeting of county Legion committeemen took place at the Olive Post's headquarters in Ashokan Monday evening. These appointed delegates from each post foregather at stated times to formulate and report on plans for the Legion's varied activities.

Although the mountain sawmills have turned out millions of feet of hard maple lumber (of which a large part went into women's shoe heels) for the past 10 years, an estimated 2 million trees were tapped in the Empire State this season for maple products, or 80,000 more than was the case last year. The current crop may hit 400,000 gallons and the farmer's price ranges from $4 to $6 a gallon. Figure 50 gals of sap to one of syrup and you'll get one reason why streams run down so fast in late winter and early spring.

Albert Fox Sr., of Olive Bridge is said to be one of the few experts attending upon antique clocks and finding out what makes them tick erratically or, more likely, not tick at all.

How many are there in Government the UN, on the college campuses, in our schools, in our churches? While we sleep, they work,—night and day shifts.

They sneer at God, the Constitution and our Bill of Rights. They have pledged "the whole of their life to the destruction of our Republic." That's the big plan. It's on tap now.

Shootin' Too High?

By FRANK TRIPP

If this shoe pinches, some editors may not put it on. I just spent two hours wading through the brains department of a big newspaper: all of its specialists, experts, authorities and columnists. What I read only confounded my confusion.

I contend no more than that I am an average newspaper reader; just one of the millions to whom the newspaper must appeal if it is to survive.

The highly touted stuff that I just read shot so far over the heads of the bulk of any paper's readership that I could see the customers flocking to the air waves to find something down their alley.

I am talking about the plus material in a newspaper, the constantly increasing highbrow encyclopedic discourses for the few, that make average readers feel small, insignificant, ignorant, and can drive them away from a newspaper as a document not meant for them.

* * *

THE NEWS, honestly reported, is understandable by anybody. Analysis of news by experienced editors is consistently balanced to average mentalities. But when their big name hired help get through expounding weird angles and theories of the news, so as to read different than their contemporaries, the uncertain reader finds himself in the capacity of incompetent editor, without the training to separate the wheat from the chaff.

The newspaper rose to its universal estate by talking on the level of average people's ability to understand—not by lording over them.

The great editors of the past made the newspaper the poor man's university. They appealed from understandable levels to stalwart pioneers, who were guided, largely by their newspapers, to build the America we now enjoy. It was Greeley's simple slogan of monosyllables that sent young men West.

Alas, are our great newspapers to become journals that the very stratum they need most to reach will reject as beyond the realm of their understanding?

* * *

THE MOST PROFOUND truth can be simply told. And better be, these days when discouraged readers may see and hear understandable things, if they cannot read them.

The newspaper must survive upon the interest and in the confidence of the masses, whence came its birthright, not upon the favor of the intelligentsia.

There is a section of the newspaper press, the largest section, that enjoys being dubbed "country papers." And, you know, "country" can mean anything today. Everything is "country" less than 20 stories tall. Your half million city is "country" to the wiseacres I'm writing about. You're from the "sticks"; I'm a "hick" columnist—thank God. Plenty disagree with me, but nobody ever said he didn't understand me.

* * *

THESE COUNTRY EDITORS produce many famed and important papers. They say the same things that their ponderous brothers say, only they couch truths in the language of their realm. They employ familiar language, illustrations and comparisons that make the little fellow see where he stands in the complex national and international picture.

Bill the bartender, Bob at the gas station, Prof. at the high school, all understand them. If readers want the technical they know where to get it. But none of 'em would be without his hometown paper, be it sizeable city or hamlet.

These are the "country papers" whose readership accounts for 80 per cent of the 56 million people who buy a newspaper every day. Their readers are treated as average Americans and as community importants; looked up to, not down upon.

Their studied approach and effort is to enlist their readers into a brotherhood of neighborliness, to build community and newspaper understanding and loyalty.

* * *

THIS IS no quarrel with a sheet that deliberately aims over my head. I don't have to read it.

High School Opens Baseball Season Against Arlington Tuesday

Bob Mains Will Pitch ForMaroon

DUSO Opener Set Tuesday at NFA

Coach Bill Burke will send senior southpaw Bob Maines against powerful Arlington High in the Kingston High School baseball opener Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Arlington, under Coach Fritz Jordan, comes into the stadium with a record of four wins in five starts. Their only setback was to Beacon in a game in which Beacon's veteran hurler, Bob Komisar, struck out 21.

BURKE PLANS to use Maines three innings and follow with Jack Houghtaling and a third pitcher in order to have both pitchers sharp and ready for the DUSO League opener with Newburgh Academy at the Hill City.

The only doubtful position is third base where either Jack Dawkins or Frank Turck will get the call.

JOEY HOFFMAN has nailed down the first base post. Johnny Culjak will be at second and Richie Hilton will start at shortstop.

Skyline, Mehm's Cop Titles

Skyline and Mehm's Market have captured their respective divisions of the YMCA Mercantile League and will roll off for the league championship Thursday night at the YMCA.

BOB FATUM of the National League was the top kegler with 579 on games of 203, 196 and 180. Adam Thiel posted 528 (155-170-203) in the American.

William Leverenz shot 519, Edgar Tymeson 201-505, Paul Jordan 497, Charles Rhymer 495, William Palen 201-492, Chauncey Elliott 499, Lou Schafer 492.

William Crowe rolled 205-554 in the National. Jack Raible had 208-547, Carmen Massa 529, Tom Rowland 513, Herb Williams 515, Joe Amato 508, John Rowland 497.

Kansas City Average 22,428

Kansas City, April 25 (AP)—The cold statistics showed today that major league baseball is getting a red hot welcome in Kansas City.

Home attendance for 7 days for Kansas City's American League entry was brought to 156,997—an average of 22,428—by the 19,446 cash customers that turned out in chilly, windy weather to see the Athletics beat the Chicago White Sox 5-0 yesterday.

That's more than half the 304,666 total drawn by the same Athletics in 72 games at Philadelphia all last season.

White Sox Had Their Ups and Downs With A's

BY JACK HAND
The Associated Press

How high is up? How low is down? Ask the Chicago White Sox. Manager Marty Marion's hearty crew climbed the highest mountain and probed the deepest sea over the weekend.

The White Sox zoomed into the thin air of outer space Saturday to humble Kansas City, 29-6. That's right T-W-E-N-T-Y N-I-N-E, tying a modern record.

Then they turned around Sunday and dived 20,000 fathoms into the deep blue to absorb a 5-0 shutout from the same Kansas City A's, with Alex Kellner applying the whitewash for the Athletics.

JUST TAKE A look at some of the other things that happened yesterday:

1. Pittsburgh finally won its first game at Philadelphia 6-1, after losing eight in a row. One more drubbing would have tied the modern record for most defeats at the start of a season (set by Brooklyn at nine in 1918). The Sunday curfew turned the second game into a suspended game with the Phillies leading 2-0 in the eighth.

2. The New York Giants scored six runs in the 10th inning but barely managed to hold the fort as Brooklyn bounced back with five runs in an 11-10 thriller.

3. Willard Nixon, the old Yankee killer, beat the New York Yankees for the sixth straight time, allowing only two singles in a 1-0 Boston Red Sox victory.

4. Sad Sam Jones, always a sore-armed disappointment at Cleveland, pitched a two-hitter against Cincinnati for a 2-1 victory, his second of 1955 for the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game was rained out in the third inning.

5. Saul Rogovin, another sore-armed pitcher who was shunted to the minors last year, went the route for Baltimore to top Washington in 10 innings of the first game 2-1. Washington took the second 5-2.

6. ROOKIE FRANK Lary of Detroit found his first big league victims in the Cleveland Indians who won 111 games last season. Lary allowed eight hits while the Tigers hung a first defeat on Herb Score, the Indians' rookie hotshot, 6-4.

Kellner allowed only five singles. The husky lefthander became the first Kansas City pitcher to go the route this season in a game watched by 19,446 hardy A's fans, who braved the double threat of bad weather and another deluge of White Sox runs. Gus Zernial's three hits helped hang the defeat on Dick Donovan.

Nixon's s-e-c-o-n-d successive shutout was a real class job at Yankee Stadium, where singles by Bil Skowron and Eddie Lopat were the only New York hits in a game delayed one hour and 15 minutes by rain. Lopat lost it in the ninth when Faye Throneberry singled, took second on an infield out and scored when Norm Zauchin's single dropped in front of Hank Bauer.

The Giants and Dodgers staged another massive tug-of-war at Ebbets Field before the Brooks finally lost their second game in 13 starts. Despite two homers by Willie Mays, his first of the season, Brooklyn took a 5-3 lead into the ninth, when Al Dark's two-run homer tied the score.

RAY KATT'S first hit of the year, a three-run homer, started the Giants to their six-run spurt in the 10th, only to have Brooklyn hammer back with five. At the end the Dodgers had men on first and second when Ruben Gomez, the seventh New York pitcher, finally got Carl Furillo on a foul fly. A total of 37 players were used by both sides with the Giants coming within one of tying the record by sending 23 men into action.

Jim Hearn, who started Friday night, was the winning pitcher although he was No. 5 on the scene with Johnny Antonelli and Gomez of the starting brigade still to follow. The loss was hung on Billy Loes, who stopped an early Giant threat in the seventh but couldn't repeat.

Max Surkont saved Pittsburgh from a record-tying losing streak by holding the Phils to eight hits in the opener.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY AL McCLANE
(NEA Fishing Editor)

You don't ask for guides in a native Bahamian village. You just walk through a settlement and they tag along.

There are several hundred people in Cooperstown, on Abaco Island, and for a while it looked like all of them were going bonefishing with Don Carter, Doc Struthers and me. But the 73-year-old Elder Cooper weeded out six or 10 tackle bearers, down to a seven-year-old who had yaws and stood with one leg crossed behind the other.

WE STARTED OUT ahead of them, going through the village and across the hill in a cut-coral gully that made walking difficult, and around us grew the dense, twisted mangroves where wild pigs had made tunneled trails and the tobacco doves rose in coveys like quail.

We finally came to a swamp where somebody had laid a walk of coral rocks that led up a rise on the far side, and at the top we could look out over the great flat where Felix and Elder Cooper told us the bonefish came to feed. We all stood there for a few minutes and watched the heat shimmering water, 20, 30, maybe 50 square miles of white marl bottom punctured with crab holes.

Now there's hundreds, probably thousands of miles of untapped water in the Bahama banks, but mark this one carefully. The bonefish are there and they are large.

ON THE RIGHT TIDE when the water is low, they will tail and can be caught on flies. When the flats are flooded, you either cast "blind" without seeing fish, or use cut crabs for bait and still fish. We still fished, chumming with bits of crab leg to bring the bones to us.

But the unexpected dividend was schools of barracuda who cruised the shallows and when we got tired of bonefish, Don and I snapped on small surface plugs. At first, we caught four and five pounders who raced and pinwheeled all over the flat. But came an old barracuda that I hesitate to tell you about.

He was big. Big like a torpedo. Once he chased Don's plug, then he caught mine. He chewed on it, like a dog chews a bone, spit it out and chewed again. I pulled hard as I could to set the hooks, but they just raked through his teeth.

On the way home, Elder Cooper said we must come back in April, when the really big barracuda are on the flats. We said we would, but how do you catch a fish who eats the plug?

Ulster County Athletic League baseball teams swing into their third round of action Tuesday, but all conference eyes are glued on Friday's battle between unbeaten Saugerties and Marlboro.

Superb pitching has been the keynote for the two squads coached by Bill Straub and Jack Kroh.

FRIDAY'S GAME at Marlboro is expected to be a pitching duel between the home club's George Mackey and Jim Farrell of Saugerties. With any kind of luck Marlboro will be riding the crest of a 23-game winning streak.

In Tuesday's pairings Saugerties is host to Kerhonkson and Marlboro visits Highland. Onteora hosts New Paltz at Boiceville.

Other games Friday include Onteora at Wallkill and Highland at New Paltz.

In games to date, Marlboro whipped Wallkill 11-0 and Onteora 13-3 behind Mackey and Charlie Mandia. Saugerties blanked Highland, 2-0 and tripped New Paltz, 8-2.

ABC Standings Stay Unchanged

Fort Wayne, Ind., April 25 (AP)—For three straight days standings of the American Bowling Congress tournament have been virtualy undisturbed, and observers are leaning to the belief they may remain that way.

Most of the outstanding teams and individuals in bowling already have put in their stint as the 72-day meet moved into its 31st day.

Pfieffer's Beer team of Detroit seems secure in first place with 3,136. Others leaders are Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee in singles with 738; H. Zoeller and G. Pacropis of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in doubles with 1,365 and Fred Bujack of Detroit in all-events with 1,903.

High School Opens Baseball Season Against Arlington Tuesday

Bob Mains Will Pitch For Maroon

DUSO Opener Set Tuesday at NFA

Coach Bill Burke will send senior southpaw Bob Maines against powerful Arlington High in the Kingston High School baseball opener Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. at Dietz Stadium.

Arlington, under Coach Fritz Jordan, comes into the stadium with a record of four wins in five starts. Their only setback was to Beacon in a game in which Beacon's veteran hurler, Bob Komisar, struck out 21.

BURKE PLANS to use Maines three innings and follow with Jack Houghtaling and a third pitcher in order to have both pitchers sharp and ready for the DUSO League opener with Newburgh Academy at the Hill City.

The only doubtful position is third base where either Jack Dawkins or Frank Turck will get the call.

JOEY HOFFMAN has nailed down the first base post. Johnny Culjak will be at second and Richie Hilton will start at shortstop.

Ronnie Ashdown and Jim Jackson will be in center and left respectively, with Harry Osterhoudt playing right field when Bob Maines is pitching. Maines will start in right field whenever he isn't pitching in order to get his batting power into the lineup.

Ulster County Athletic League baseball teams swing into their third round of action Tuesday, but all conference eyes are glued on Friday's battle between unbeaten Saugerties and Marlboro.

Superb pitching has been the keynote for the two squads coached by Bill Straub and Jack Kroh.

FRIDAY'S GAME at Marlboro is expected to be a pitching duel between the home club's George Mackey and Jim Farrell of Saugerties. With any kind of luck Marlboro will be riding the crest of a 23-game winning streak.

Other games Friday include Onteora at Wallkill and Highland at New Paltz.

In games to date, Marlboro whipped Wallkill 11-0 and Onteora 13-3 behind Mackey and Charlie Mandia. Saugerties blanked Highland, 2-0 and tripped New Paltz, 8-2.

Kerhonkson won its only start, with Wallkill, 5-3.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY AL McCLANE
(NEA Fishing Editor)

You don't ask for guides in a native Bahamian village. You just walk through a settlement and they tag along.

There are several hundred people in Cooperstown, on Abaco Island, and for a while it looked like all of them were going bonefishing with Don Carter, Doc Struthers and me. But the 73-year-old Elder Cooper weeded out six or 10 tackle bearers, down to a seven-year-old who had yaws and stood with one leg crossed behind the other.

WE STARTED OUT ahead of them, going through the village and across the hill in a cut-coral gully that made walking difficult, and around us grew the dense, twisted mangroves where wild pigs had made tunneled trails and the tobacco doves rose in coveys like quail.

We finally came to a swamp where somebody had laid a walk of coral rocks that led up a rise on the far side, and at the top we could look out over the great flat where Felix and Elder Cooper told us the bonefish came to feed. We all stood there for a few minutes and watched the heat shimmering water, 20, 30, maybe 50 square miles of white marl bottom punctured with crab holes.

Now there's hundreds, probably thousands of miles of untapped water in the Bahama banks, but mark this one carefully. The bonefish are there and they are large.

ON THE RIGHT TIDE when the water is low, they will tail and can be caught on flies. When the flats are flooded, you either cast "blind" without seeing fish, or use cut crabs for bait and still fish. We still fished, chumming with bits of crab leg to bring the bones to us.

But the unexpected dividend was schools of barracuda who cruised the shallows and when we got tired of bonefish, Don and I snapped on small surface plugs. At first, we caught four and five pounders who raced and pinwheeled all over the flat. But came an old barracuda that I hesitate to tell you about.

He was big. Big like a torpedo. Once he chased Don's plug, then he caught mine. He chewed on it, like a dog chews a bone, spit it out and chewed again. I pulled hard as I could to set the hooks, but they just raked through his teeth.

On the way home, Elder Cooper said we must come back in April, when the really big barracuda are on the flats. We said we would, but how do you catch a fish who eats the plug?

White Sox Had Their Ups and Downs With A's

BY JACK HAND
The Associated Press

How high is up? How low is down? Ask the Chicago White Sox. Manager Marty Marion's hearty crew climbed the highest mountain and probed the deepest sea over the weekend.

The White Sox zoomed into the thin air of outer space Saturday to humble Kansas City, 29-6. That's right T-W-E-N-T-Y N-I-N-E, tying a modern record.

Then they turned around Sunday and dived 20,000 fathoms into the deep blue to absorb a 5-0 shutout from the same Kansas City A's, with Alex Kellner applying the whitewash for the Athletics.

JUST TAKE A look at some of the other things that happened yesterday:

1. Pittsburgh finally won its first game at Philadelphia 6-1, after losing eight in a row. One more drubbing would have tied the modern record for most defeats at the start of a season (set by Brooklyn at nine in 1918). The Sunday curfew turned the second game into a suspended game with the Phillies leading 2-0 in the eighth.

2. The New York Giants scored six runs in the 10th inning but barely managed to hold the fort as Brooklyn bounced back with five runs in an 11-10 thriller.

3. Willard Nixon, the old Yankee killer, beat the New York Yankees for the sixth straight time, allowing only two singles in a 1-0 Boston Red Sox victory.

4. Sad Sam Jones, always a sore-armed disappointment at Cleveland, pitched a two-hitter against Cincinnati for a 2-1 victory, his second of 1955 for the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game was rained out in the third inning.

5. Saul Rogovin, another sore-armed pitcher who was shunted to the minors last year, went the route for Baltimore to top Washington in 10 innings of the first game 2-1. Washington took the second 5-2.

6. ROOKIE FRANK Lary of Detroit found his first big league victims in the Cleveland Indians who won 111 games last season. Lary allowed eight hits while the Tigers hung a first defeat on Herb Score, the Indians' rookie hotshot, 6-4.

Kellner allowed only five singles. The husky lefthander became the first Kansas City pitcher to go the route this season in a game watched by 19,446 hardy A's fans, who braved the double threat of bad weather and another deluge of White Sox runs. Gus Zernial's three hits helped hang the defeat on Dick Donovan.

Nixon's second successive shutout was a real class job at Yankee Stadium, where singles by Bil Skowron and Eddie Lopat were the only New York hits in a game delayed one hour and 15 minutes by rain. Lopat lost it in the ninth when Faye Throneberry singled, took second on an infield out and scored when Norm Zauchin's single dropped in front of Hank Bauer.

The Giants and Dodgers staged another massive tug-of-war at Ebbets Field before the Brooks finally lost their second game in 13 starts. Despite two homers by Willie Mays, his first of the season, Brooklyn took a 5-3 lead into the ninth, when Al Dark's two-run homer tied the score.

RAY KATT'S first hit of the year, a three-run homer, started the Giants to their six-run spurt in the 10th, only to have Brooklyn hammer back with five. At the end the Dodgers had men on first and second when Ruben Gomez, the seventh New York pitcher, finally got Carl Furillo on a foul fly. A total of 37 players were used by both sides with the Giants coming within one of tying the record by sending 23 men into action.

Jim Hearn, who started Friday night, was the winning pitcher although he was No. 5 on the scene with Johnny Antonelli and Gomez of the starting brigade still to follow. The loss was hung on Billy Loes, who stopped an early Giant threat in the seventh but couldn't repeat.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

BATTING: Ray Katt, New York Giants—His first hit of the season, a three-run homer in the 10th inning, touched off New York's six-run spurt for 11-10 edge over Brooklyn.

PITCHING: Willard Nixon, Boston Red Sox—Defeated New York Yankees for sixth straight time, allowing only two singles in 1-0 victory.

T.V. — STAGE — RADIO — RECORDS — PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: Biggest recording project now under way is RCA's coming album of Gershwin songs. It's for fall release, and will have some of the top RCA artists doing the numbers.

The ambassador of jazz. That's what they should call Lionel Hampton, after his trip to Israel. The great musician took his vibraphone, his drums and his band to Israel, which had hitherto been unexplored by jazzmen. And Israel will never be the same. Neither will Hamp.

"I always wanted to go there," Hamp says. "Ever since my folks used to read me the Bible and all those stories. So, when I arranged a tour of Europe, I made plans to include Israel."

His "plans" were actually an offer to donate his services to Mogen David Adon, the Israeli equivalent of the Red Cross. He offered to play free for three weeks, if the organization paid his transportation. They accepted, although not too eagerly. They frankly weren't sure whether a jazz band would draw in Israel, which seemed to prefer longhair music.

His first concert was in Tel Aviv. He opened by reciting a prayer in Hebrew and the applause and cheers were so deafening that the radio transmitter, broadcasting the event, blew out.

He went on to do 40 concerts in his three weeks. Grand total of the audience — 170,000. Result — Israel loves jazz in general, Hampton in particular. And it's mutual.

"It was an inspiration to play there," Hamp says. "The country is so alive. I never played better in my life." And that's saying a lot.

* * *

Record values are relative. Carmen Lombardo, Guy's brother, was looking for some old records of Caruso and Galli-Curci. In a second-hand record store, he found 97, and the proprietor offered him the whole batch for $10. Next on his shopping list was a copy of the original Lombardo record of "Little Coquette," with Carmen doing the (sob) vocal.

The proprietor dug up two copies. Cost? Ten dollars.

DICK'S PICKS: Patti Page is back in winning form with "I Love to Dance With You" (Mercury). Others: "No Letter Today" (Les Paul and Mary Ford, Capitol); "Heart" (Four Aces, Decca) and Eddie Fisher, RCA); "Mambo Jungle (Mel Gray, Pyramid); "If I Had Three Wishes" (Frank Sinatra, Capitol); "Yes You Are" (The Mills Brothers, Decca); "Mary Had a Lover Man" (Carol Woodward, Dot); "Smack Dab In the Middle" (Ella Mae Morse, Capitol); "Please Don't Touch" (The Burton Sisters, RCA).

Some nice new background music albums — "Soft and Sweet" (The Three Suns with strings, RCA); "Music for Tonight" (Steve Allen plays and conducts, Coral); "Wine, Woman and Waltzes" (Helmut Zacharias and dreamy stuff, Decca); "Music for Loving" (Ben Webster with strings, Norgran).

He died later at New York Hospital.

Benson Tours Dust Bowl

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson arranged to leave today for a tour of the "dust bowl" area of the great plains. He hopes to shape a program to combat destructive wind erosion there. His three-day tour, to be made by military transport plane and car, will take him through parts of Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico.

Plan 20-Story Building

New York, April 25 (AP)—The real estate firm of Webb & Knapp plans a 100-million dollar, 20-story office building over the railroad tracks in back of Pennsylvania Station. Purchase of the title to be two square blocks running from 9th to 10th avenues and from 31st to 33rd streets, was announced yesterday by William Zeckendorf, Webb & Knapp's president. Zeckendorf said the building will have two to four million square feet of floor space. The Pennsylvania Railroad has reserved the right to operate trains through the property.

Operation a Success

Camp Kilmer, N. J., April 25 (AP)—The U. S. First Army scored a victory by repelling imaginary "enemy" forces with imaginary atom bombs and atomic weapons in Operation Raindrop II yesterday. Some 2,300 army reserves, National Guardsmen and army regulars from northeastern states took part in the tactical map exercise. Lt. Gen. Thomas Herren, commanding general of the First Army, said the goals set for the command post exercise were met.

FOR WARY FISH IN CLEAR WATER, USE LIGHT- OR NEUTRAL-COLORED STREAMERS, SPARSER, SMALLER THAN NORMALLY USED.

By DICK KLEINER

THE RECORD SHOP: Biggest recording project now under way is RCA's coming album of Gershwin songs. It's for fall release, and will have some of the top RCA artists doing the numbers.

* * *

The ambassador of jazz. That's what they should call Lionel Hampton, after his trip to Israel. The great musician took his vibraphone, his drums and his band to Israel, which had hitherto been unexplored by jazzmen. And Israel will never be the same. Neither will Hamp.

"I always wanted to go there," Hamp says. "Ever since my folks used to read me the Bible and all those stories. So, when I arranged a tour of Europe, I made plans to include Israel."

His "plans" were actually an offer to donate his services to Mogen David Adon, the Israeli equivalent of the Red Cross. He offered to play free for three weeks, if the organization paid his transportation. They accepted, although not too eagerly. They frankly weren't sure whether a jazz band would draw in Israel, which seemed to prefer longhair music.

His first concert was in Tel Aviv. He opened by reciting a prayer in Hebrew and the applause and cheers were so deafening that the radio transmitter, broadcasting the event, blew out.

He went on to do 40 concerts in his three weeks. Grand total of the audience — 170,000. Result — Israel loves jazz in general, Hampton in particular. And it's mutual.

"It was an inspiration to play there," Hamp says. "The country is so alive. I never played better in my life." And that's saying a lot.

* * *

Record values are relative. Carmen Lombardo, Guy's brother, was looking for some old records of Caruso and Galli-Curci. In a second-hand record store, he found 97, and the proprietor offered him the whole batch for $10. Next on his shopping list was a copy of the original Lombardo record of "Little Coquette," with Carmen doing the (sob) vocal.

The proprietor dug up two copies. Cost? Ten dollars.

Javits Fighting Natural Gas Bill

New York, April 25 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jacob M. Javits says costs of natural gas to New York state consumers will skyrocket if Congress passes pending bills to exempt the producers from federal regulations.

Javits has joined with the attorneys general of several other states in an effort to defeat the bills.

Writing yesterday to Atty. General Miles Lord of Minnesota, Javits said prices have risen in the past few years "and further increases are indicated."

JAVITS SAID the pending bills in Congress would relieve production and gathering of the gas from control by the Federal Power Commission. As a result, he aded, there would "unquestionably be substantial increases in cost to the pipeline companies and a resultant direct and unconscionable effect on the price paid by the ultimate consumer."

Javits said 3,735,623 customers in New York state last year paid "substantially in excess" of 105 million dollars to local distributors.

During the past year, the club financed eye examinations and glasses for 34 children, distributed radios and fruit baskets to the sightless, and made donations to Dr. Larsen's Guide Dog Foundation and the Sight Conservation Society of New York.

Held in Knife Slaying

San Juan, P. R., April 25 (AP)—A 40-year-old man was arrested yesterday in connection with the knife slaying of a Brooklyn couple and their 2-year-old son. The man, wanted by the New York police, was identified as Gustavo Diaz Gonzales. Island police said he admitted killing Mrs. Rosa Ortiz Grancitano, 40, but denied slaying her husband, Peter, 40, and their son, Peter Jr. Police quoted him as saying Mrs. Grancitano had killed the other two before he entered the couple's Brooklyn apartment. Gonzales said he killed Mrs. Grancitano after she went at him with a knife, police said. The three bodies were discovered by police last Tuesday. Little Peter's body was stuffed into the refrigerator.

Without Suspect

Brookline, Mass., April 25 (AP)—Police said early today they were without a "definite suspect" in the bludgeon slaying of pretty Miss Elizabeth Dose, 29, a Beth Israel Hospital nurse. The statement came after police released a man they described as a former suitor of the nurse. The man's release followed several hours of questioning last night and early today. He cleared himself to the satisfaction of authorities. The man who killed the attractive nurse by striking her on the head with a heavy weapon tried to cover up his crime by setting fire to the bed on which the victim lay. The woman's charred body was found early Saturday on the fire-damaged bed.

Javits Fighting Natural Gas Bill

New York, April 25 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Jacob M. Javits says costs of natural gas to New York state consumers will skyrocket if Congress passes pending bills to exempt the producers from federal regulations.

Javits has joined with the attorneys general of several other states in an effort to defeat the bills.

Writing yesterday to Atty. General Miles Lord of Minnesota, Javits said prices have risen in the past few years "and further increases are indicated."

JAVITS SAID the pending bills in Congress would relieve production and gathering of the gas from control by the Federal Power Commission. As a result, he aded, there would "unquestionably be substantial increases in cost to the pipeline companies and a resultant direct and unconscionable effect on the price paid by the ultimate consumer."

Javits said 3,735,623 customers in New York state last year paid "substantially in excess" of 105 million dollars to local distributors.

Lions Seal Sale For Blind Starts

The Kingston Lions Club annual Blind Seal campaign began this week with the mailing of seals to residents of Kingston and vicinity.

Proceeds of the sale are used to aid the blind locally and for research processes.

Persons who do not receive the seals by mail may purchase them from any member of the Lions Club.

During the past year, the club financed eye examinations and glasses for 34 children, distributed radios and fruit baskets to the sightless, and made donations to Dr. Larsen's Guide Dog Foundation and the Sight Conservation Society of New York.

One person was injured slightly in the only city traffic mishap reported by police over the weekend.

The report said a station wagon owned and operated by Joseph L. Dugan, RD, Allentown, Pa., was headed east on Albany avenue when a line of traffic stopped ahead and his vehicle struck the rear of the sedan of John L. LaVelle, of Palenville, near Judie's Restaurant at about 2:20 p. m. Sunday.

An unidentified woman, the report said, received a "bump on the head," but "did not think medical attention was necessary."

Held in Knife Slaying

San Juan, P. R., April 25 (AP)—A 40-year-old man was arrested yesterday in connection with the knife slaying of a Brooklyn couple and their 2-year-old son. The man, wanted by the New York police, was identified as Gustavo Diaz Gonzales. Island police said he admitted killing Mrs. Rosa Ortiz Grancitano, 40, but denied slaying her husband, Peter, 40, and their son, Peter Jr. Police quoted him as saying Mrs. Grancitano had killed the other two before he entered the couple's Brooklyn apartment. Gonzales said he killed Mrs. Grancitano after she went at him with a knife, police said. The three bodies were discovered by police last Tuesday. Little Peter's body was stuffed into the refrigerator.

Without Suspect

Brookline, Mass., April 25 (AP)—Police said early today they were without a "definite suspect" in the bludgeon slaying of pretty Miss Elizabeth Dose, 29, a Beth Israel Hospital nurse. The statement came after police released a man they described as a former suitor of the nurse. The man's release followed several hours of questioning last night and early today. He cleared himself to the satisfaction of authorities. The man who killed the attractive nurse by striking her on the head with a heavy weapon tried to cover up his crime by setting fire to the bed on which the victim lay. The woman's charred body was found early Saturday on the fire-damaged bed.

TROOPERS said Mrs. Kendall was a passenger in an automobile driven by Arthur Kendall of the same address. Traveling in a northerly direction, the car was in collision with the trailer portion of an Eastern Freightways tractor-trailer out of Albany. Driven by Howard W. Powell, 29, of Chatham, state police reported.

The tractor trailer was southbound, passing the automobile of Joseph Dall Vechia, 55, of Marlborough, which was stopped, headed south, at the time, according to the state police report. There was no arrest.

Hanover, Germany, April 25 (AP)—Final returns today from legislative elections here in West Germany's largest state handed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-American foreign policy a sharp rebuff. ## Four Are Injured Near Saugerties Sunday Morning

Four persons were injured, apparently not seriously, in a collision on Route 9W three miles south of Saugerties about 3 a. m. Sunday.

State police said an automobile driven by Earl Pettit, 42, of 298 Broadway, Kingston, was in collision with one driven by Marilyn Joan White, 24, of 15 DuBois street. The impact caused Miss White's car to overturn, troopers said, and both vehicles were described as "total wrecks."

Pettit was treated for lacerations of the lip and face and his passenger, Richard Walker, 22 of RD 1, Kingston, received treatment for contusions of the chest and head, troopers reported. Miss White and her passenger, Dona Brooks, 23, of Yarmouth street, were taken to the Kingston Hospital and admitted overnight for observation, troopers reported. Miss White received lacerations of the lip and forehead and contusions of both knees, while the other woman received contusions of the left wrist and contusions of both knees, according to the state police report.

Crime Rate Jumps

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The U. S. crime rate took another 5 per cent jump in 1954, with major offenses estimated at 2,267,250, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today. This translates into one major crime committed every 13.9 seconds. Hoover noted that last year was the seventh consecutive year in which the crime rate rose, and the third straight year in which more than two million serious offenses occurred. The statistics, published in the FBI's annual "uniform crime reports," showed that while the nation's population grew by 7 per cent since 1950, the crime rate was increasing by 26.7 per cent during the same period.

New York, April 25 (AP)—A former convict was sought for questioning by state police today in the ride slaying of Al Frias, a small-time New England boxer. Police said the man, who was not identified, last week married a former girl friend of Frias. He is also wanted for violating his parole by moving without notifying authorities.

Frias, 26, was found last Friday beside a highway near Monroe, a bullet hole in the back of his head.

In his New York hotel room, police found $1,140 in cash. A note found in the room, addressed to an "Uncle Jess," said Frias was returning $300 he had borrowed and was just beginning to get a "break."

Seek Ex-Convict In Frias Death

New York, April 25 (AP)—A former convict was sought for questioning by state police today in the ride slaying of Al Frias, a small-time New England boxer. Police said the man, who was not identified, last week married a former girl friend of Frias. He is also wanted for violating his parole by moving without notifying authorities.

In his New York hotel room, police found $1,140 in cash. A note found in the room, addressed to an "Uncle Jess," said Frias was returning $300 he had borrowed and was just beginning to get a "break."
